A first-person story from the perspective of a man. The story is about a couple who have been seeing each other for a while. The curvy girl invites the guy out for a date night where she wants to share some big news with him. She wants to let go of her figure and wants to get bigger, more specifically her ass. This is fine with the guy who has always secretly had an appreciation of large asses. During the course of the meal the girl explains what she wants to do and says she has a pill that can help speed things up. After some teasing she takes the pill and starts to scoff down her food raising the sexual tension. Rushing out of the restaurant she speeds home to find the effects of the pill have already started to show. The two head straight into the bedroom to get acquainted with her rapidly growing curves. During the course of the sex her growth accelerates as her ass gets gigantic and her pussy starts to grow. After the mind-blowing sex is over they both collapse from exhaustion. When morning comes the guy is in the bed alone. He looks for his lover and upon finding her he sees she has grown more. Morning sex leads to even more growth and the story finishes with her being absolutely enormous.
