

FATED FRIENDS A BONDING EXPERIENCE

DAY ONE

A story by Symbiobro and Berggie

“DRIVE, DRIVE!” a masked man shouted as both him and another masked man threw themselves through the car doors into the back seat, heavy duffel bags full of cash strapped around their shoulders. The driver slammed his foot to the floor, and the tires of the BMW screeched against the pavement. The car took off down the road, leaving the sound of the bank’s alarm fading behind it.

“Where’s Benny?!” the driver yelled to the back, glancing at the empty passenger seat beside him.

“She fuckin’ got him!” the masked man in the back replied, “Just scooped him up in one of her hands! And that’s gonna be us if we don’t get outta here!”

“I thought you said Seattle didn’t have any supers! That they were all on the East coast!” the second masked man in the back yelled while frantically looking out the back window.

“There sure as hell wasn’t a huge bitch the last time I was here!” the first man snapped back, “Is she chasing us?”

“I don’t know! I can’t see her!”

“What do you MEAN you can’t see her?! She was as big as a building!” The first man said, turning around, but also not seeing anything.

“Will you guys shut up for a second?!” The driver shouted, swerving between two cars, just barely missing them.

“What’s the plan now? We’d be out in the open if we want to go the original route!”

The first masked man in the back leaned over the passenger seat, and pointed ahead. “Duck in that alley, we can wait there for the heat to cool off.”

The driver nodded and put his hand on the shift, screeching around the corner in a drift, and the car perfectly slid into the alleyway. He quickly shut the car off, and for a moment everything was silent, other than the heavy breathing of the three men. The men in the back opened up their bags and started counting just how much their take was while the driver leaned his seat back for a quick rest. He pulled his mask off and stared out the sunroof, smiling to himself. That is, until he saw a giant sharp-toothed face smiling back at him far above them.

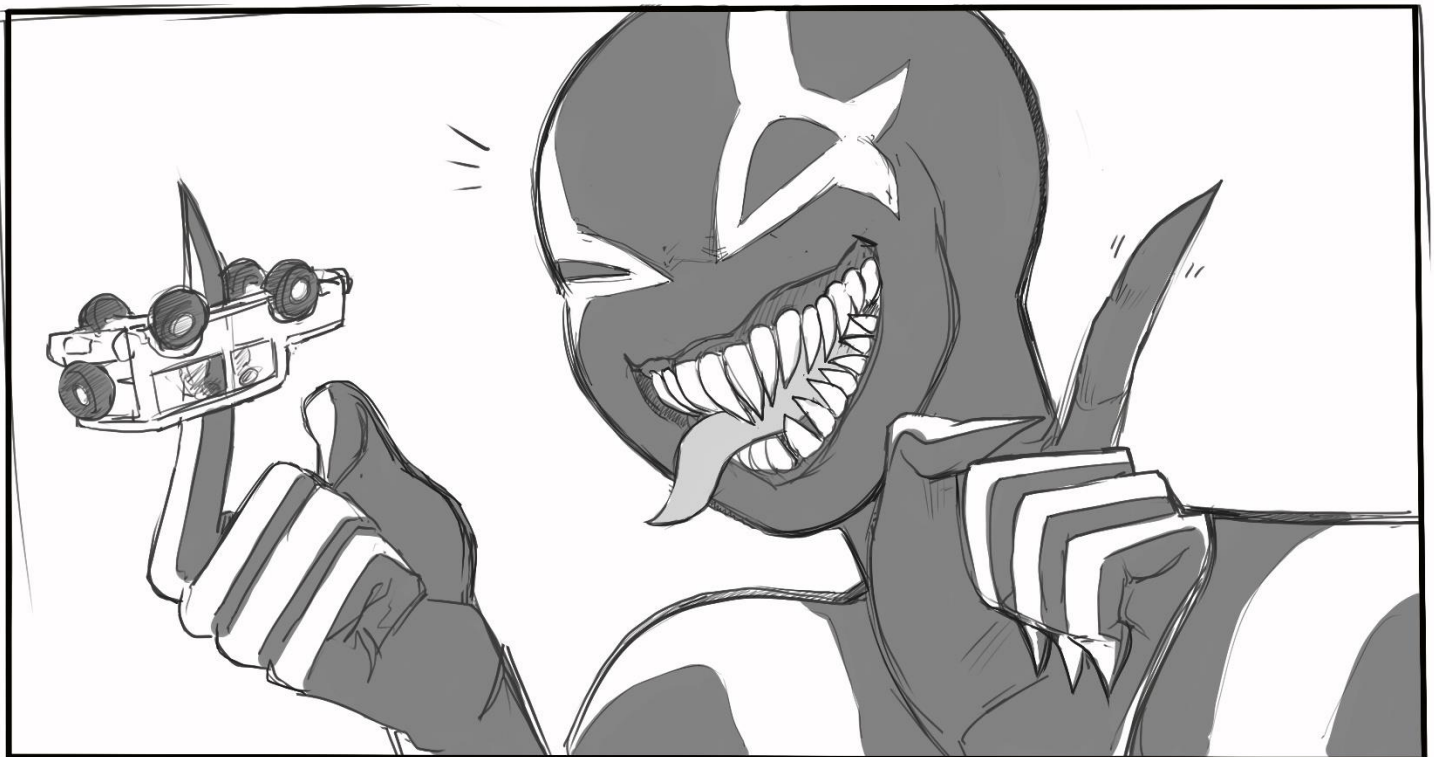

“OH SHIT!” He said, snapping the seat back up and starting the car, but just as he did that, a giant black finger skewered itself right through the middle of the car, causing the men in the back to scream as they jumped back in their seats. The driver stepped on the gas pedal as hard as he could, but the engine revved to no avail as the car was lifted into the air, its wheels spinning. They were helpless to do anything but watch as the car turned to face the giant black alien face.

“I can’t believe you guys left your little friend behind without saying goodbye to him!” Vex said in a mocking tone, holding up one of her other hands. In her fist was another masked man, a defeated look on his face.

One of the bank robbers pulled out a gun and shot through the window, shattering the glass. The bullets bounced off Vex’s face, falling harmlessly to the ground far below. Vex didn’t even wince, and just smirked. “Thanks for the reminder, can’t have you guys carrying those around.” She gently shook the car, tossing the men around as their guns, duffle bags, and anything else loose in the car fell out of it, into her open hand. Then, with her fourth hand, she gently opening the passenger door of the car, and shoved the man she was holding into the seat, closing the door behind him. He sat himself upright, looking incredibly mad at the other robbers.

“Now how about I take you guys for a ride?” Vex said, flipping her hand over so that the car was now upside down on her finger. The robbers fell into the top of the car, groaning as they slammed into the metal.

The driver was the only one who had had a seatbelt on, and hung from his seat limply, watching as Vex started making her way to the police station. The men inside started yelling and arguing with each other, and Vex just started making car noises to drown them out, raising the car up and down through the air as she walked the city streets, like it was some kind of toy.

With how long her legs were at this size, it didn't take her long to reach the police station. She held out a finger, and the symbiote shaped the tip of it into a fine point, which she used to pop the tires one by one, and then set down the car in front of the building. Officers came out at the sound of the tires popping, and she dumped the duffel bags and guns next to them. Some of them tipped their hats and thanked her, and she just waved back. "Take good care of them for me, alright?"

Vex yawned, stretching out all four of her arms and sticking out her very large chest. She had been fighting crime for almost 24 hours straight, and was more than ready to get some rest. This prompted a response from her symbiotic suit.

I can take over if you want y'know

You may not need sleep, but it's my body you're sharing with me, and that needs to take a break. The last time we tried it, I woke up from your night of crime fighting all sore.

But I got so much done!

Yeah, but then I found some pictures online of you posing with criminals stuffed into our tits

Oh c'mon, the fans love that stuff! And you love showing off!

That last part may be true, but that doesn't mean-

Before Hailey could finish her thought, she backed up into something. She turned to see what she had hit as she rubbed her elbows. "What the hell? How did you not warn me that there was something there? Aren't you supposed to see out of any direction?"

It wasn't there just a second ago, I swear!

Vex backed up some more just to see exactly what 'it' was. It was bigger than her and appeared to be... a giant finger? No, it was a giant gloved hand with two of the fingers touching the ground, and the thumb and ring finger were curled and placed on the sides of the other two fingers, almost as if it was doing some sort of heroic pose? Was she seeing this right? Or had the lack of sleep started making her go crazy?

Uh...Hailey?

Vex's eyes pointed up to where the symbiote was indicating, and she followed the hand's wrist upwards, to an absolutely massive figure. She was kneeling down in the harbor, wearing some sort of uniform of her own, and behind hervisor, Vex saw wild blue eyes staring straight at her. She smiled and waved her fingers down at Vex.

Vex buried her face in two of her hands. "You've got to be shitting me," she said under her breath. She really didn't want to have to fight someone that big right now.

Maybe you can just try talking to her?

"I guess it's worth a shot," Vex said, leaning way back and starting to grow a bit. She put a hand on her forehead while she looked up, and cupped two of her other hands around her mouth, but before she could even try to yell out in the hopes that she would hear her way up there, the giant gloved hand snatched her up. "Hey!" Vex yelled in surprise.

Vex found herself jutting out of the top of the fist and tried to peel the giant fingers from her lower torso, but it was no use, even with her super strength. She could grow more, but nowhere near as big as she needed to be. Struggling only caused her boobs to bounce against the huge finger they were resting on. She looked forward and passed the silhouette of a city scape design across the woman's bust, which she couldn't help but think was rather fitting. She continued to rise past her breasts, looking down at the cleavage created by her pulled down zipper, and was finally brought face to giant face with the woman, her blue visor surrounded by a mane of wild black hair. She opened her fist, and Vex rolled onto her butt, sitting in the woman's palm.

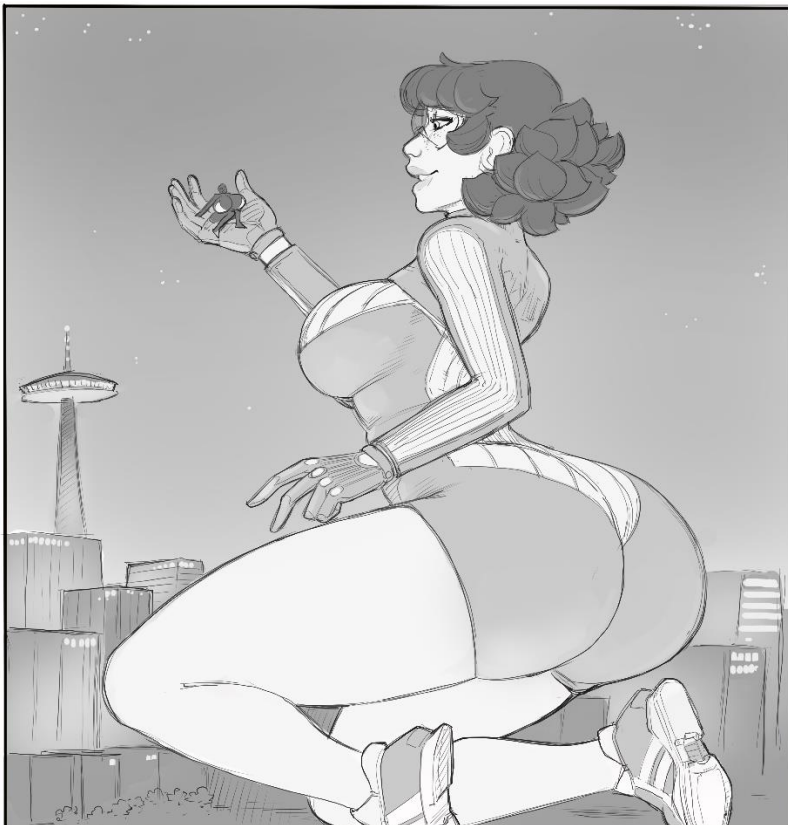

"Long time no see!" The giant woman said with a smirk. Vex was not only surprised at how the words seemed to be the perfect volume for her from such a big mouth, but was also very confused by what she was saying.

"Long time no... what?" Vex sputtered out. "Lady, I have no idea who you are!"

I feel like I'd remember someone this big

“Don’t worry about it!” The giant woman responded, almost as if she had waited for the symbiote to finish its thought. “You will!”

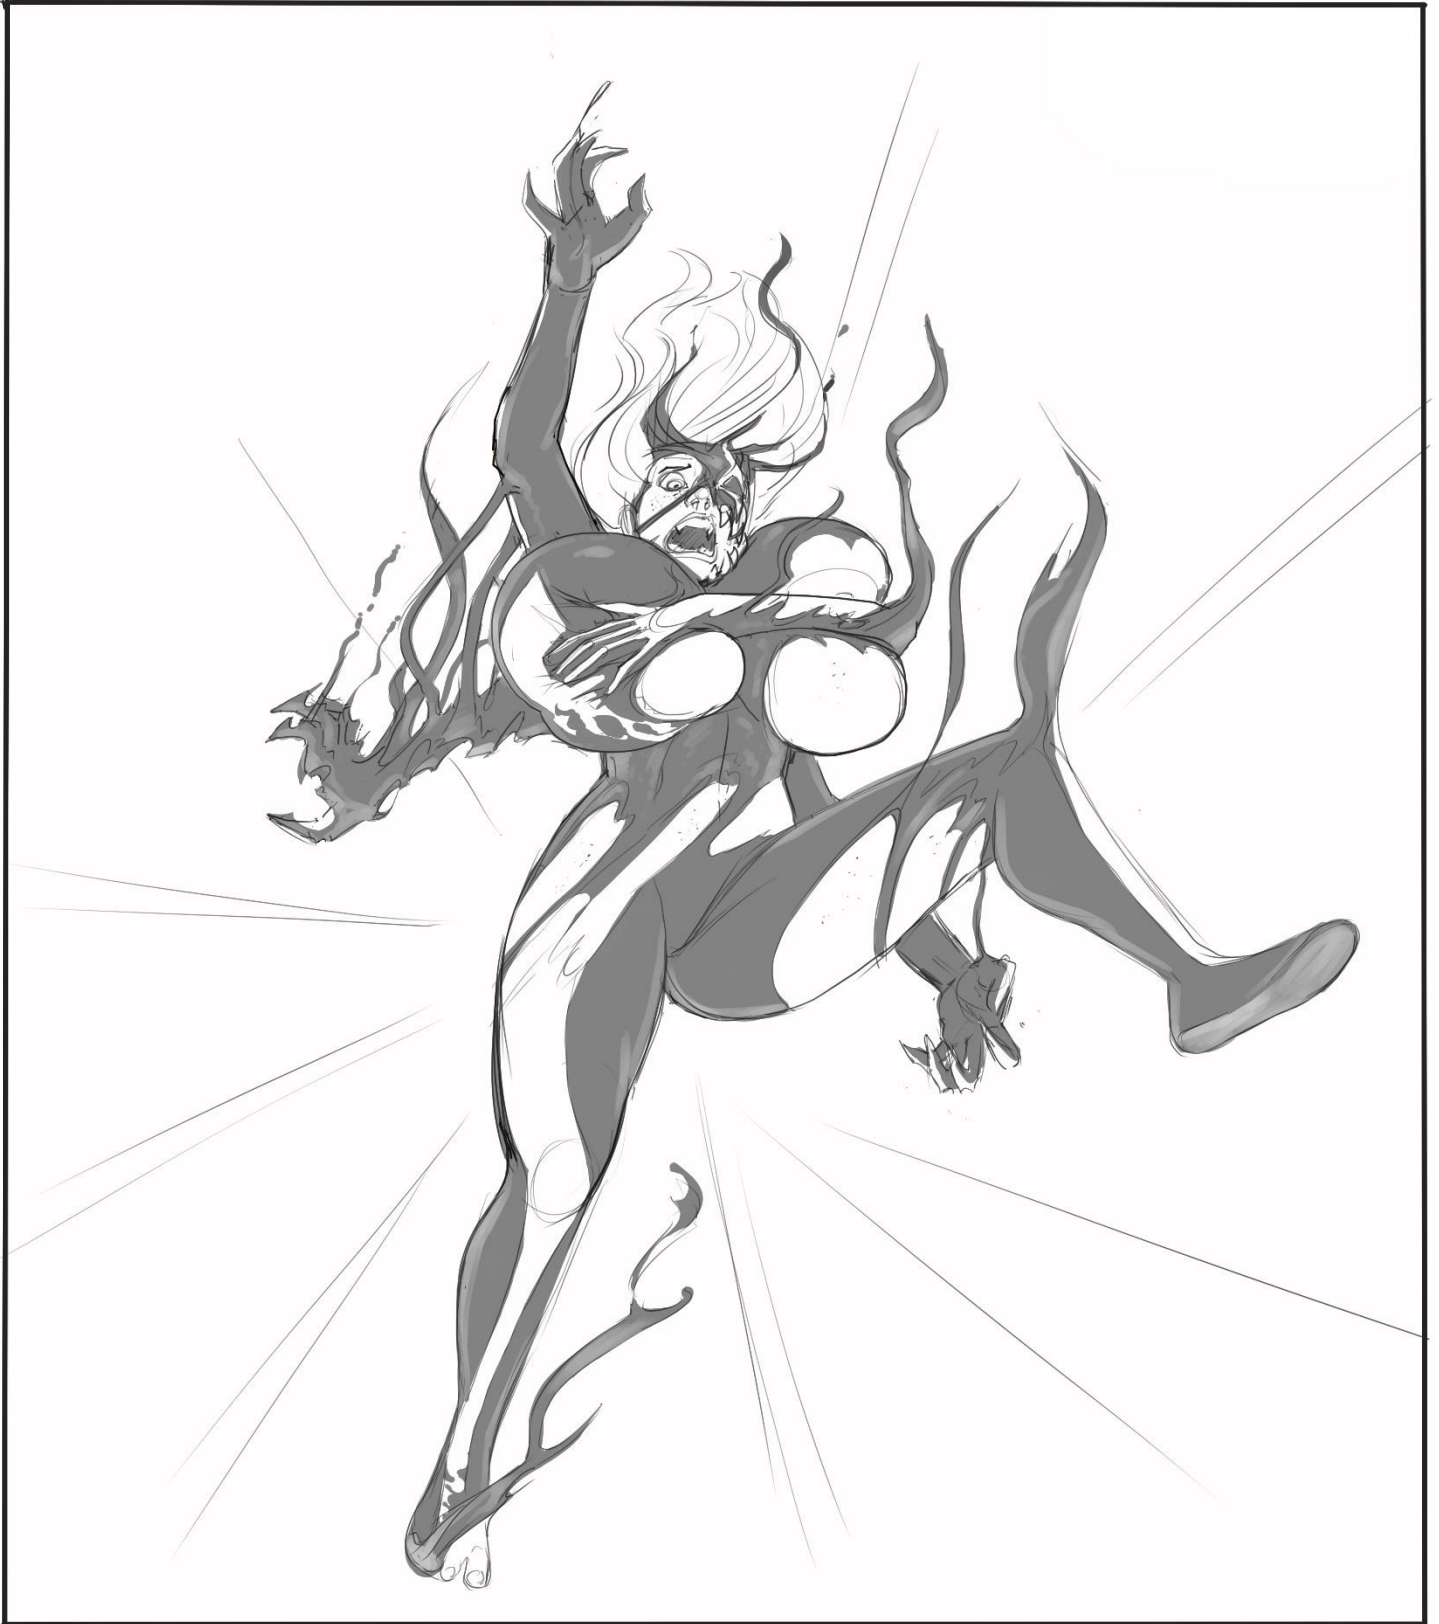

“What are you talking about?!” Vex yelled back, as she stood up on the giant hand, not knowing if that had been some sort of threat. But instead of explaining, the woman just started growing even bigger. The colossal sized woman started to stand up to her full height as she raised Vex up, and Vex could only look down at the shrinking city below her until it was obscured by the clouds she was lifted through. The hand she was standing in spread out even more around her, and she also noticed that the woman's big blue eyes were now glowing.

“Please fasten your seatbelt and return your tray table to its full upright position,” The giant woman continued, her skin now giving off a faint glow. The giant fingers closed around her as she continued to grow, thrusting Vex into a darkness that was illuminated solely by her glowing skin. She felt her stomach drop like she was on some sort of rollercoaster and felt her hair stand on end underneath the symbiote as a strange noise made her ears pop.

Without warning, the glow flashed even brighter, completely blinding her. She suddenly felt like the hand beneath her had fallen away, and she could practically feel her stomach doing somersaults. She flailed her arms and legs around as she could start to see flashes of colors in her eyes. The symbiote was struggling to keep itself together, and she hoped it did as she felt like she was rapidly approaching something...

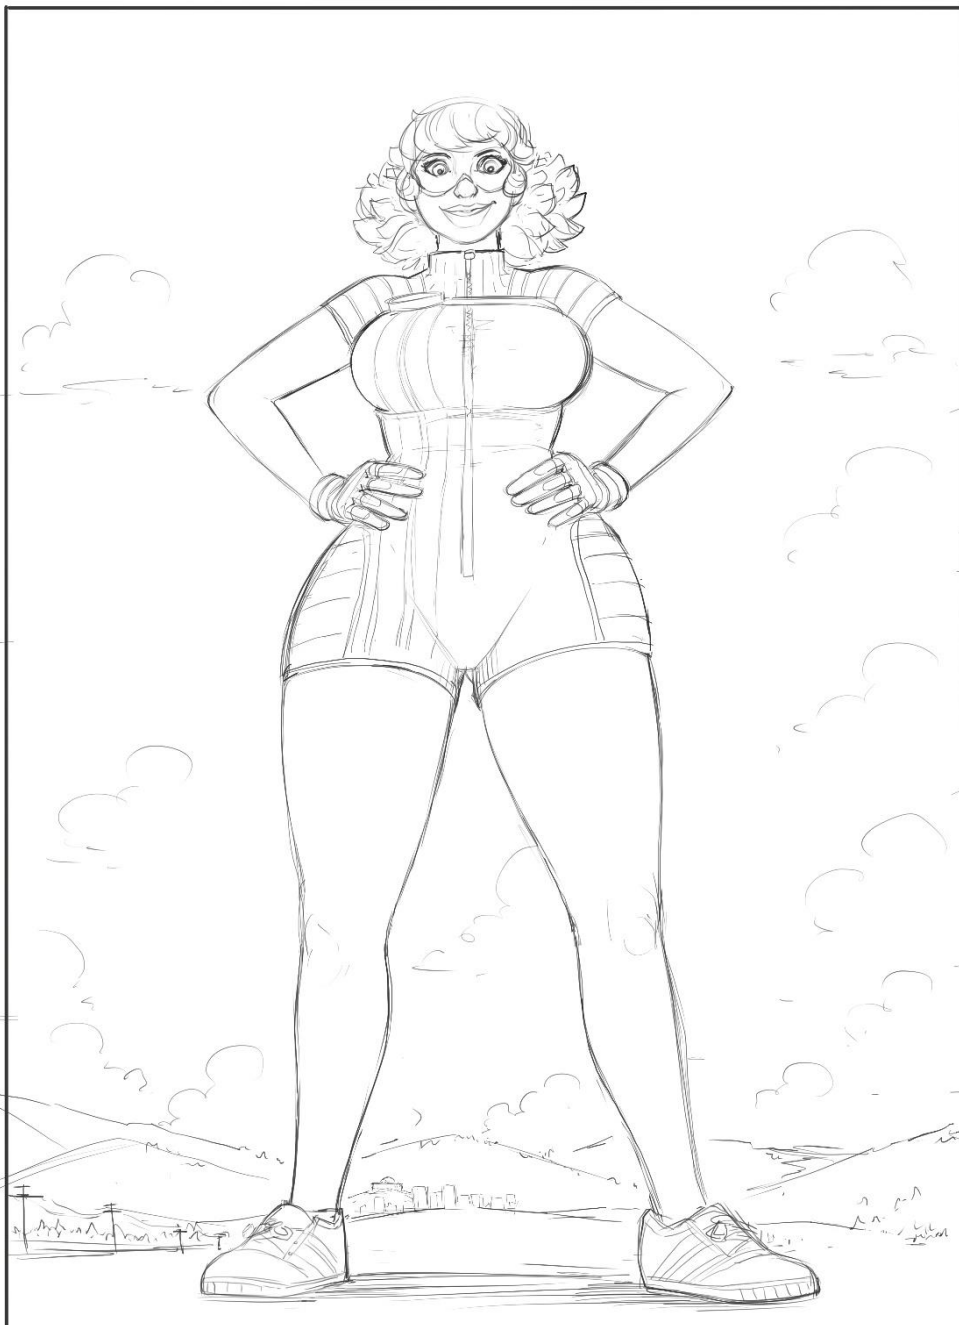

The wind blew through the fields and the sound of grass rustling was only interrupted by squeak of a rocking chair. An old looking man with a thick white mustache and a baseball cap was slowly rocking back and forth in the chair, a newspaper in hand. He sat in front of a very small gas station, with only two pumps, and a small water tower right beside the main building. It was appropriately named "Last Stop", seeing as it was in the middle of the farmland, far out from the city, and was the only place of note within miles of the border. His little gas station didn't get a whole lot of business, but that suited him just fine. That's why he moved out here in the first place, to get away from the crowds. Though he of course did get the odd visitor.

On the front page of the paper he was reading, the headline read "MEGAGAL SAVES CITY OF LITTLE HILL ONCE AGAIN", and had a picture of a giant woman in a uniform posing heroically for the camera in front of a building that she was just as tall as. While reading the article, he felt the ground start to shake more and more, and then stop. He lowered his newspaper slightly and peeked just beyond it to see MegaGal herself standing in front of him, in the same heroic pose pictured on the paper. She loomed over him, standing at least 100 feet tall, making the quaint little gas station quite small in comparison.

"Old man, Jimmothy Thompson...!" she exclaimed proudly, beaming down at him with both of her hands on her hips.

"Mornin'. And I told ya, Gal. it's just Jim," the old man said in a deep, monotone voice, returning his eyes back to his paper.

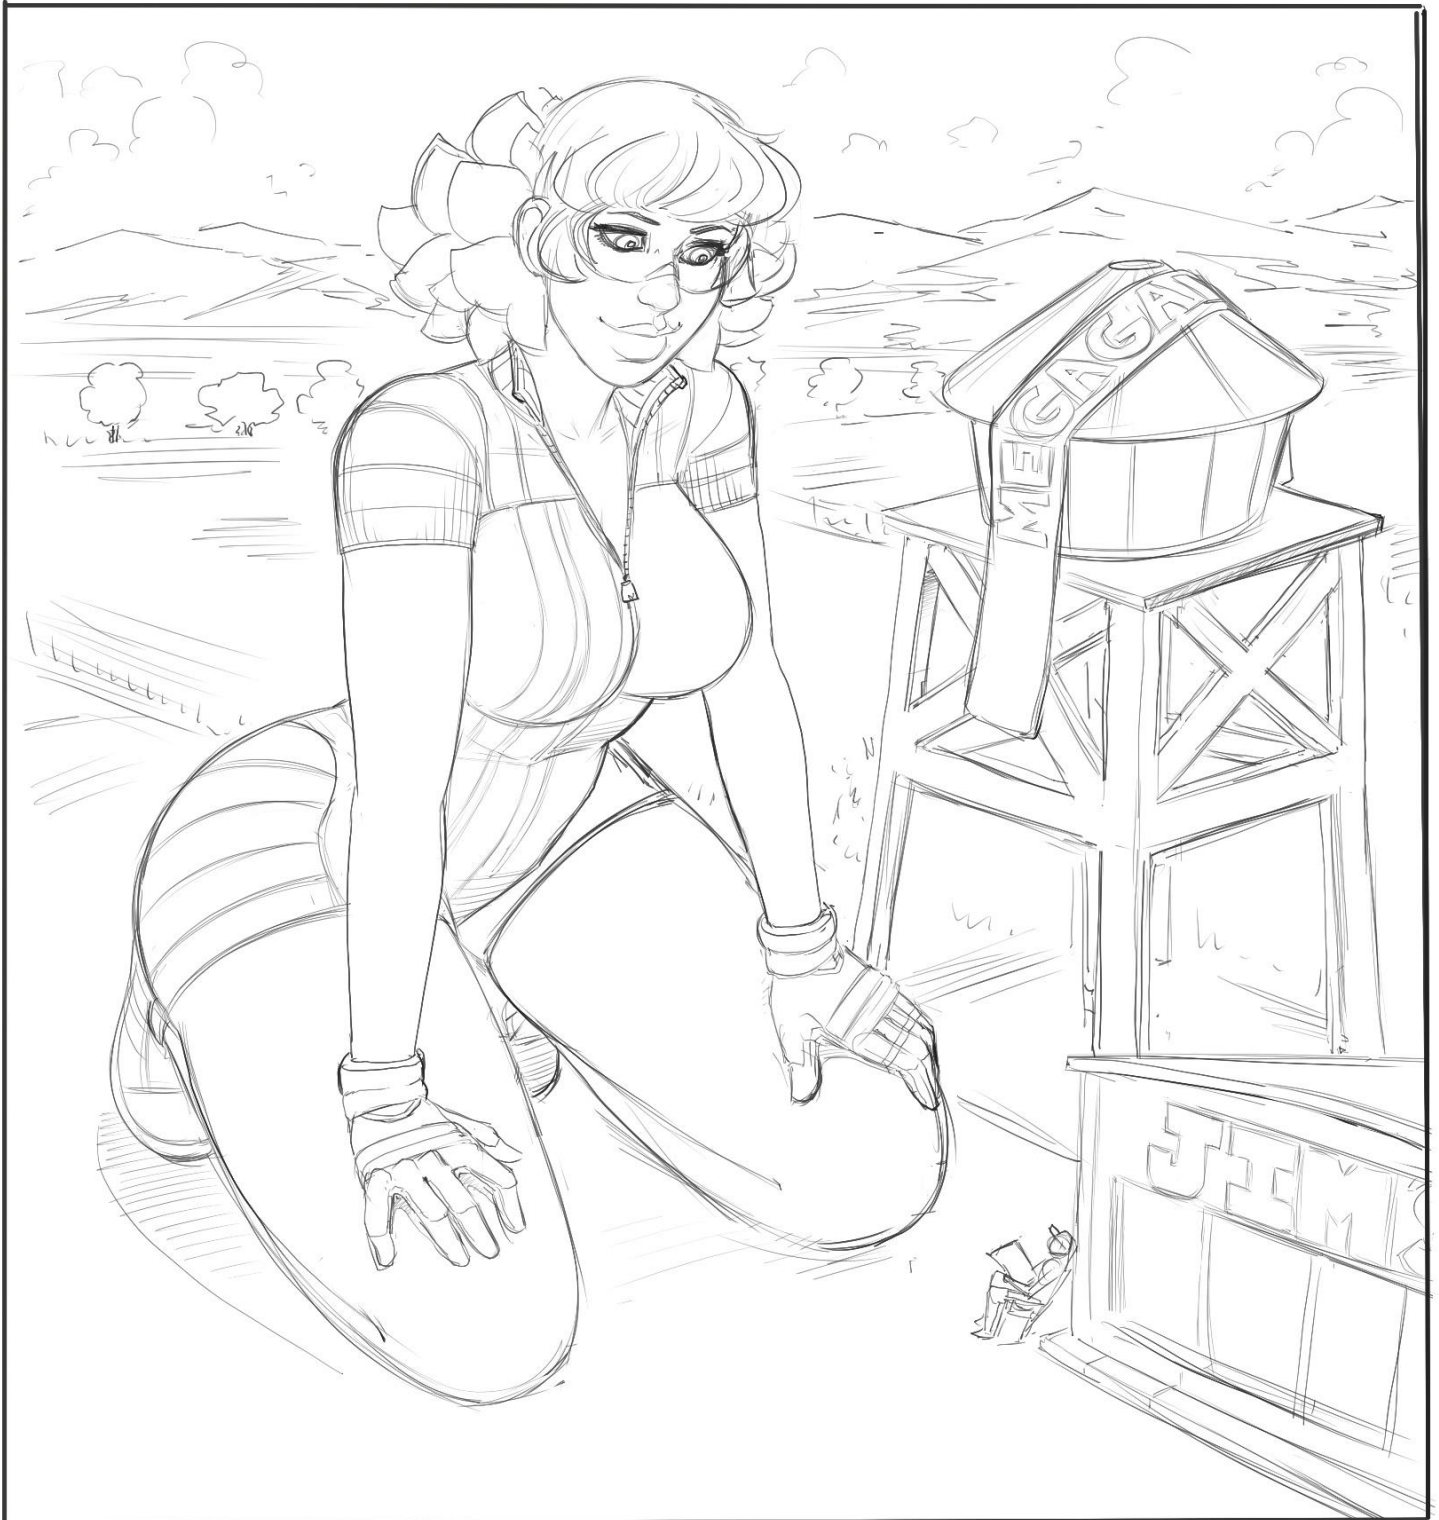

MegaGal feigned a sigh. "Well you won't tell me your full name, so... I'll keep making stuff up," she said as she began to unbuckle the belt across her chest, the large gold medallion on it shining in the sunlight.

"Jimmothy?... Seriously?" a female voice in MegaGal's earpiece said, listening in to her conversation. It was Penny from Overwatch base, though MegaGal thought that was much too serious of a name and called them 'Luna' instead. She shrugged her shoulders at the comment and continued to take off the belt and saunter over to the nearby water tower, gently placing the belt on top as one might hang up their coat after a long day at work.

"So Jim... can I call you Jimmy? Jimmy's good," MegaGal said cheekily, lowering herself down onto her knees in front of the gas station.

"Just Jim," he said, continuing to read from his paper.

MegaGal proceeded to make herself comfortable, grabbing the large zipper by her neck and pulling it down the front of her shirt ever so slightly, letting a tasteful amount of cleavage show. She let out a sigh of relief as she could feel her neck breathe. “So, lovely weather we’re having, eh Jimmy?” She said, looking at down at him as she waited for a response that never came. But that wasn’t about to stop her. “Y’know, they had me out here on very official business,” she went on, adding air quotes with her hands, and squinting her eyes while looking back and forth.

“Mhm.”

“Big important government stuff!”

“Sounds fascinating,” Jim said, not sounding fascinated at all.

“Yeah, I’m not supposed to talk about it... but Jimmy, I feel like I can just tell you anything,” MegaGal said while smiling and bobbing her head in a sarcastic manner. “It was a super-secret night-ops! Why they thought having me of all people sneaking about in the woods was a good idea is beyond me.”

“Perps in the woods again huh?” Jim asked.

“There was a moment there where I almost stepped on him...” MegaGal said with a slight grimace.

This actually seemed to amuse Jim, and he chuckled while lowering his paper to glance at her.

“Oh, you should see if you can get a twinkie from him this time,” Penny said into her earpiece.

MegaGal stifled a giggle, and certainly wouldn’t mind something sweet right now, so she decided to go for it. “So, Jim, I noticed you have some fine wares in your station. Oh, are those... Twinkies I see?” Still knelt down, she got on her hands while peering down into the storefront. “Got a heart to spare some for the local hero?” she asked as sweetly as she could.

Jim stared with a straight face at the large smiling girl. “Got any money for them?”

MegaGal began to pat around her suit as if to look for spare change, before raising her hands and sighing, looking off to the sky. “Oh darn. No pockets!”

Jim stood fast. “No money, no Twinkies.”

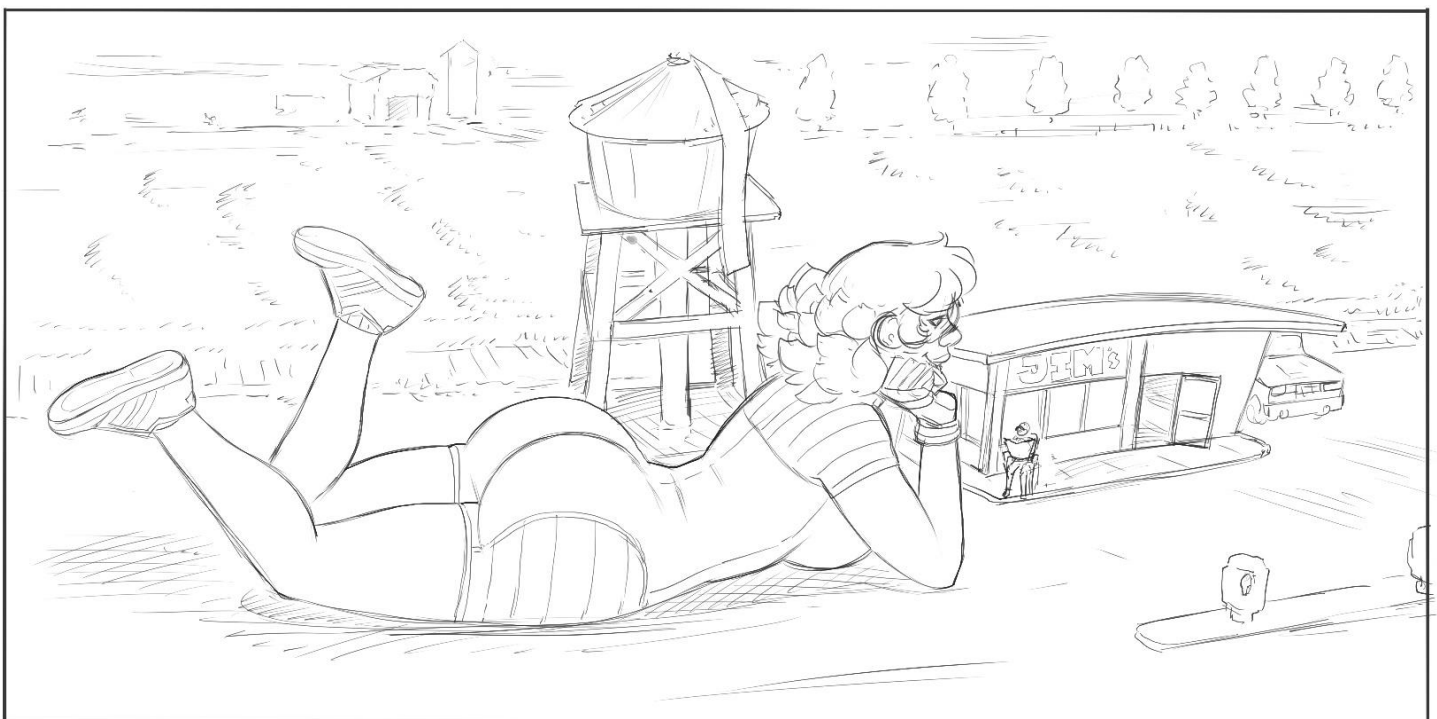

“What if I write ya an I.O.U? I don’t suppose you’ve got a giant pen laying around?”

“Nope.”

“Oh c’mon! They’re for a friend! She’s in dire need of help! She might be... starving! C’mon Jimmy, Twinkies for a friend!” MegaGal pleaded, as if she’d made the best request possible.

Jim stared at her, not even bothering to respond.

“Time for a new tactic,” MegaGal thought to herself. She laid down on her ample chest, pressing it into the ground and propping herself up on her elbows with her head in her hands while her legs kicked playfully in the air behind her. “Oh c’mooon Jimmy! After all, I’m your biggest fan!”

From this point of view, Jim couldn't see much other than her face and the bit of cleavage she was showing off, but even that didn't seem to affect him.

"Jimmy... I think... I think I love you!" she said, turning onto her side, making a heart with her hands and pressing it against one of her breasts, with a cheeky grin.

"No, and it's Jim."

"Time to crank up the waterworks," Penny said in her ear.

"Jimmmyyyyy!" MegaGal said with a choked up voice. She pouted out her lip and her eyes started watering up, as if on command. She pushed her pointer fingers together in the most innocent gesture she could.

Jim stared at her while he brought the paper back up to his face, blocking her view of him.

MegaGal gently stuck out a finger, dragging the paper back down, her lip quivering.

"Them puppy dog eyes may work on lesser men, but not 'Ol Jim. No matter how big they may be," he said, crossing his arms defiantly.

MegaGal finally dropped the act, rolling onto her back in defeat. After a long sigh, she said, "Well Penny, I tried."

"A for effort Gal, you'll get him next time." She responded back into her earpiece.

As she got back onto her feet, she was careful not to step on one of the gas pumps. She dusted herself off and turned her head towards the city of Little Hill far off in the distance. Hopefully, she'd stand a better chance of getting a snack to eat there. "Well, it's been fun old man..." she said to Jim, but her voice trailed off as she felt a tingling sensation in her right hand. She held it up in front of her, opening and closing it to make sure it wasn't asleep or something. But the fact that it was starting to feel warm made her think there was probably something more at work here. "Uh, Luna, are you seeing this?"

"MegaGal, what's going on? We're reading some strange energy spikes," Penny said, noticeably trying to hide the worry in her voice. "Are you doing this?"

"No! I mean, I don't think so!" MegaGal said. She was also trying to hide any concern she might have, but the fact that she couldn't unclench her fist anymore wasn't helping. And if that wasn't bad enough, she felt herself growing! Without warning, she shot up to double her height, and didn't seem to be done. As the growing continued, she backed up from the station, her shoes getting bigger by the second. It finally stopped once she was around 300 feet tall, and she was glad it had been a relatively short growth spurt all things considered, though instead of growing, she was now glowing. Or at least her clenched fist was.

"Mega, I'm calling in the rest of the team," Penny said into her ear.

Strangely though, she wasn't feeling as worried anymore.

"Penny, I think... I think it's ok. I can't really describe it, but... it just feels right somehow." She wasn't sure if Penny would listen to her, but she wasn't focused on that right now. Something was obscuring her vision, and she blinked to try and clear it away, but that didn't help. She started seeing the vague shape of... buildings down below her? Like a sort of miniature ghostly city she stood above. And was that the space needle she could see? It was too hard to tell with this strange double vision fading in and out. The only thing that she could still see clearly was her fist was glowing very brightly, and MegaGal grabbed her wrist with her other hand as it started to vibrate. With a sudden explosion of light, her fist snapped open as something huge burst forth from it, and MegaGal wasn't able to react in time, the huge thing falling on top of her, knocking her to the ground. She found her face completely covered, muffled by...

Was her face in between a giant pair of boobs?

MegaGal pushed the figure off her and she felt it do the same with hands of its own. They each rolled to the side, and she sat up to get a good look at this newcomer, wiping her eyes to make sure she wasn't seeing double anymore.

"MegaGal, we're here, what are we looking at?" Amie said into the earpiece. The rest of the team must have joined in, and could see through her visor, which was now colored red to indicate that 'code red' was in full effect.

"Seems to be a class B kaiju of some sort," Rook joined in.

"Penny, how did we not get alerted of this thing coming through the moon gate?" Leslie asked, composing herself as well as she could.

"It didn't come through the moon gate! There was a random energy spike and it just... appeared!" Penny replied.

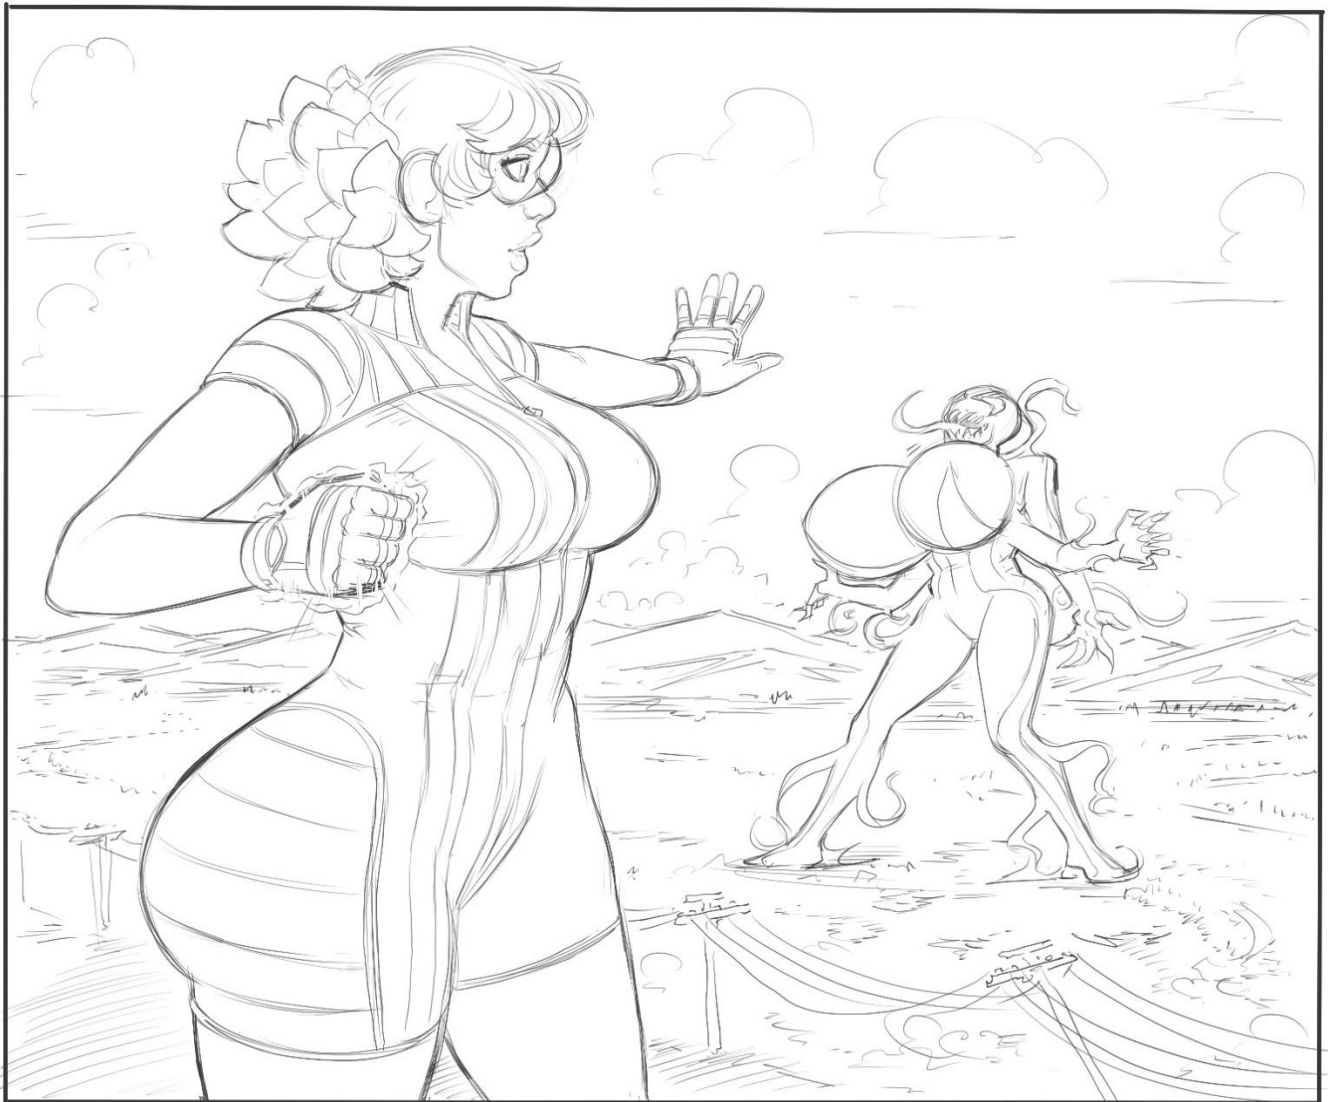

And finally, Indie joined in. "Gender assessment: female."

"Oh, thank you captain obvious!" Amie shot back.

"I'm just stating it for the record!" Indie said, defending himself.

Vex stumbled backwards as she stood herself up, also quite shaken from her own experience. She still felt her stomach churning, and didn't notice the small gas station behind her, and stepped where she shouldn't. Her foot crushed one of the gas pumps, and it reacted immediately. A large explosion erupted from the pump, and Vex screeched as the fire scorched her, the symbiote losing its composure, and tendrils snaked and stretched across her body as she looked more monstrous than ever.

Though MegaGal was still dazed as well, the explosion caused her to leap into action, and she stretched an arm forward, blocking the explosion from getting any further towards the other pump or the gas station itself. She definitely didn't want Jim to get hurt. As the fireball billowed outwards, it started to try to roll over MegaGal's hand, but was suddenly pulled backwards into the hand itself. MegaGal could feel the heat being absorbed into herself as the flames shrunk down into nothingness. She stood back up to her full height of 300 feet, and got in a defensive position, her left hand out front with the palm open, and her right hand behind her in a fist, glowing red hot.

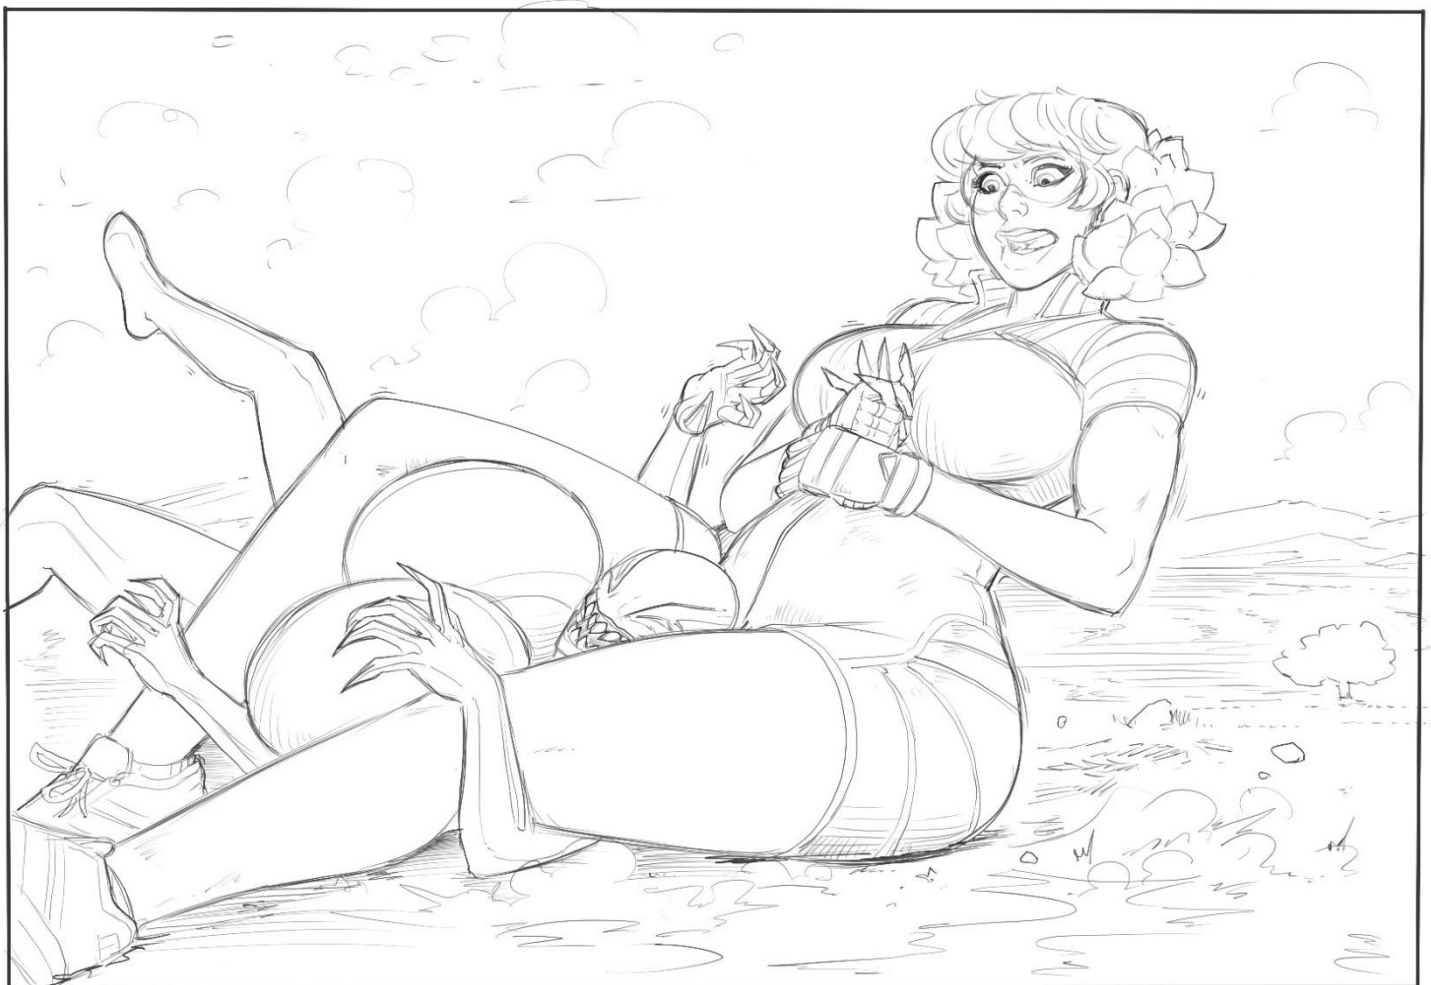

She watched as Vex continued to thrash around. Even for someone who must have been at least 200 feet tall, that explosion seemed to have really hurt her. Her large alien eyes seemed to be blinking, trying to clear her head, and she stumbled towards MegaGal, clawed hands flailing in front of her. MegaGal responded in turn, twisting her heel in the dirt and bringing her flaming fist flying forwards. She didn't get a direct hit, but grazed the side of Vex's head, causing her to stumble backwards once again, her large pointed teeth grimacing in pain. Though MegaGal noticed something strange. On the side of her head where she had hit her, the black skin of Vex's head had retreated away for a moment, letting a lock of blonde hair hang out. It was only for a moment though, as the symbiote flowed over the side of her head, encasing it fully once again.

"Isn't that peculiar," MegaGal said out loud as the energy in her right hand dissipated. But she was quickly yanked out of this thought as one of Vex's feet hit the ground hard as she stumbled, landing right next to the station and causing Jim to fall out of his chair.

"MegaGal, the probability of that station remaining intact with you two fighting around it is not very high!" Leslie warned her. And she was right. She had to get whatever this thing was out of here.

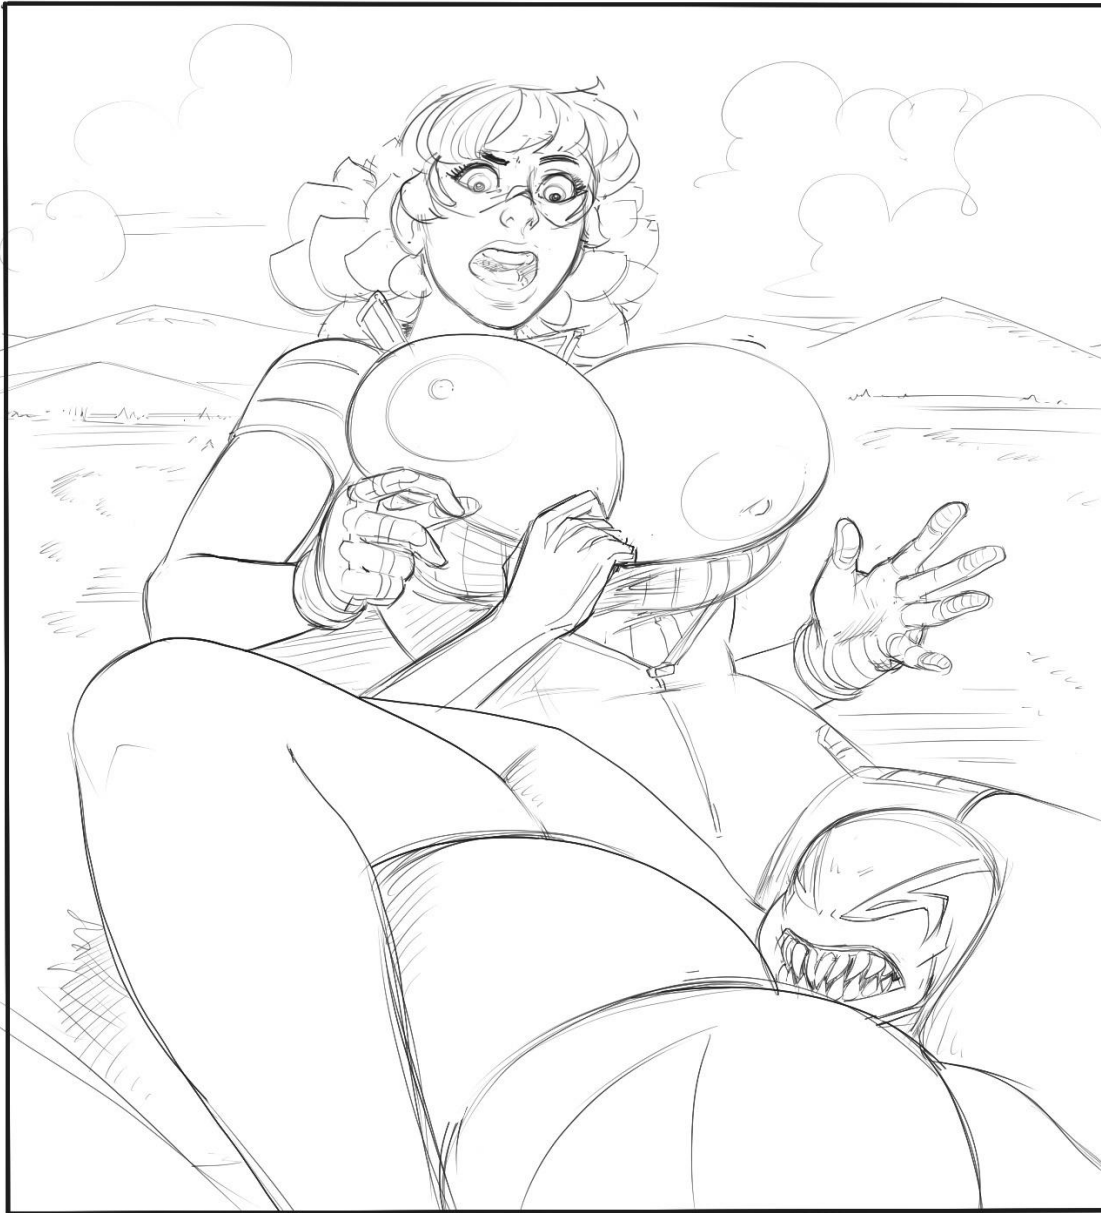

Vex shook her head to try and clear it, and her large bust wobbled back and forth. She saw MegaGal running towards her, and gathered herself as quickly as she could, striking a fist forwards to punch her in the face, but due to the disorientation and the size difference, Vex missed her mark, and ended up punching her in the boob. MegaGal grunted, actually feeling the punch, but her momentum carried her forward, and she tackled Vex, both of them hitting the ground and rolling a fair distance away from the small gas station.

The short tussle ended with MegaGal using her bigger size to her advantage, and positioned herself in such a way that her legs were pinning Vex's body to the ground, and she was managing an arm bar-like hold while forcing her thighs around Vex's head. "Never seen a Kaiju like you before!" She said between breaths, actually pretty impressed with how strong she was.

Vex wasn't done yet though. With her one free lower symbiote arm, she bent it backwards in a way a normal arm wouldn't be able to bend and did her best she could to claw at MegaGal. She felt a handhold of something and pulled downwards. Unfortunately for MegaGal, she had grabbed the open cleavage of her suit, pulling not only the zipper down, but also the top of her undersuit.

"Oh you have got to be kidding me!" MegaGal said as her boobs spilled out of the suit, and the distraction allowed Vex to slip out of her grasp. Vex crawled away and stood herself up, while MegaGal did the same, blushing and slightly flustered as she looked down, her hands floundering to reach the small zipper and stuff her tits back into the suit.

"That's another wardrobe malfunction for the logbook," Rook said with a sigh.

Penny stifled a small laugh and added "I suppose that sounds better on an official document compared to 'and then her tits hung out.'"

MegaGal was red in the face as she finished zipping her suit back up, but snapped to attention when she heard Vex shout.

"HEY!" Vex yelled, pointing one of her hands accusingly at MegaGal, "I don't know who you are, where the hell you took me, or how you changed outfits so fast, but I am REALLY not happy about it!"

This was immediately followed as a swell of growth from her, rising to meet MegaGal's height, and then surpassing it, until she was almost double her height at 600 feet, looking down on her.

MegaGal blinked, legitimately surprised. "Usually I'm the chatty one. And the... growy one."

"Wait, she can speak?" Leslie spoke up into the mic. "We've seen the rare kaiju form words before, but that was a fully formed sentence!"

Vex was fuming, still incredibly angry at the girl in front of her.

We should probably take her out before she grows bigger again

MegaGal's eyes darted around. "Did you guys hear that? Is there someone else here?" she said quietly.

"What? No, of course not. You and her are the only things within miles on our satellites. Now heads up girl, you got incoming!" Amie responded.

Vex ran at MegaGal, who was growing upwards as she charged towards her. Vex's fists slammed into MegaGal's forearms as she blocked the hits, though she wasn't as lucky with the other arms, hitting her in the gut. Vex pulled back for more punches, and MegaGal was backing up, blocking as many as she could, but she just couldn't compete with the four arms. She punched back, though Vex managed to take the punch just as well as she was giving them.

"Mega, now would be a good time to get even bigger!" Indie said into the mic.

As if she needed someone to tell her that! MegaGal grew past Vex, higher and higher. Vex's blows slowed as she watched her stretch above, almost doubling her in height, now at least 1000 feet tall. She looked down at Vex, and cocked her head, Vex looking back up at her. Despite all that had happened, she couldn't help but feel this was... familiar somehow? That didn't make sense, and yet... there was just this feeling in her mind that she couldn't shake. That despite the warnings Luna base was directing into her earpiece currently, this four-armed girl wasn't the enemy. And hey, she could talk, so surely she could be reasoned with?

Hailey, I don't like how she's looking at us.

Hailey didn't like it either. It almost looked like she was... smiling? That couldn't mean anything good. She had been getting some good hits in before, but what was she supposed to do now that her head only came up to the bigger girl's hips?

The bigger they are...

Vex smiled, knowing what the symbiote meant.

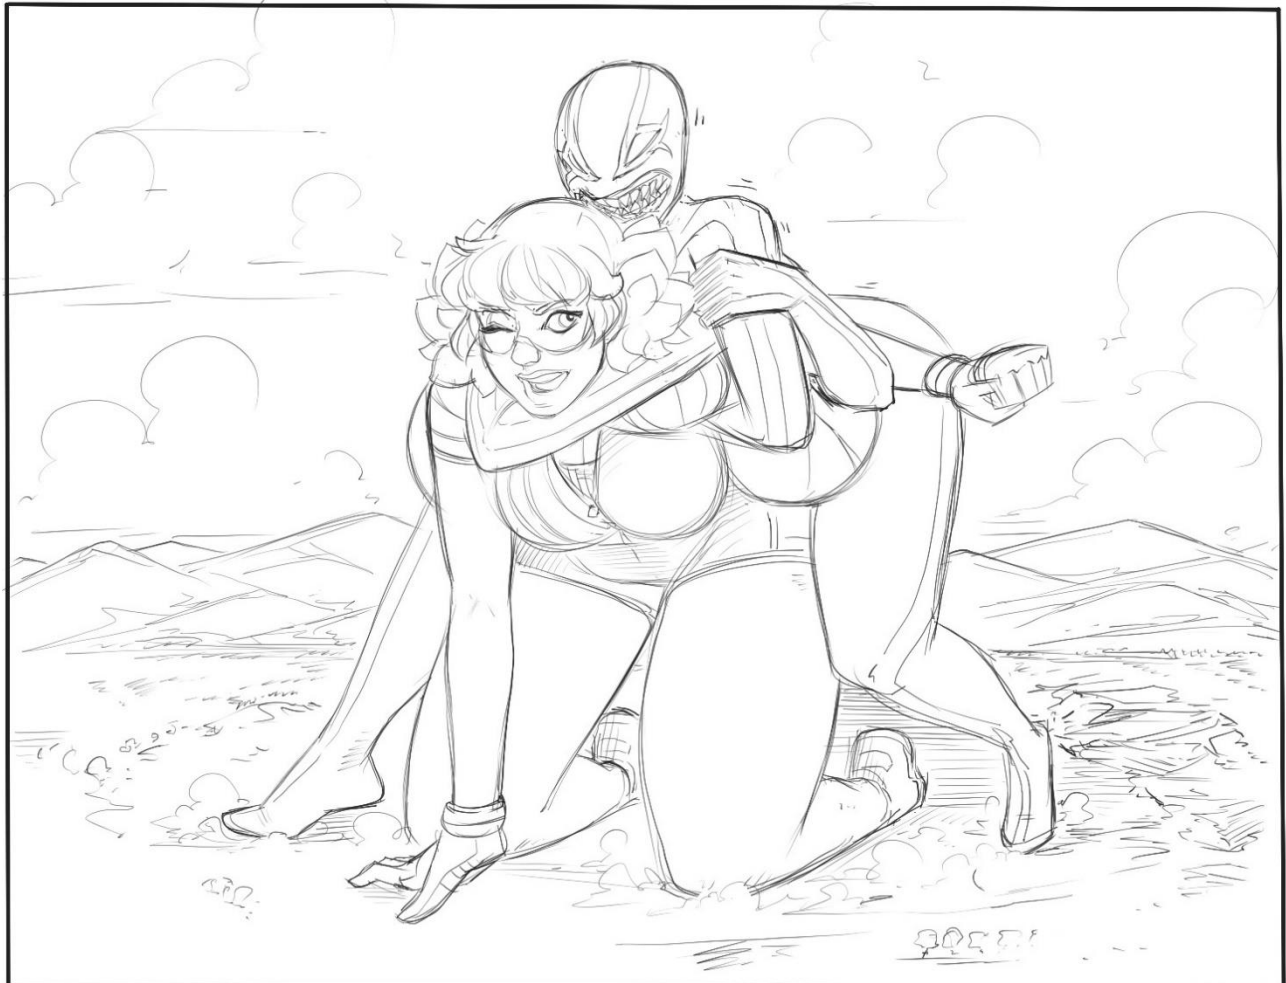

MegaGal opened her mouth to say something, but then Vex suddenly slammed her whole body into MegaGal's leg. She hadn't been expecting it and was thrown off balance as her leg was swept out from under her, and she fell to the ground onto her hands, her knees slamming into the dirt, creating two small craters. Vex, having avoided her falling, suddenly jumped onto her back, and started to grow some more. Her breasts pushed into MegaGal's back as she grew as tall as she was. Two of Vex's arms wrapped themselves around MegaGal's arms, and she used the other two to put her into a headlock.

"Alright, time to for you to explain what's going on!" Vex yelled, breathing heavily.

And still, even though Vex literally had her in a headlock, MegaGal couldn't shake the notion that her opponent wasn't a bad guy. And she certainly wasn't acting like any kaiju she had fought before. What kind of monster wanted an explanation? MegaGal chuckled a bit, "I'll admit, that was a quite a move! You got me good! Still, guess it's my turn. Hey Luna, what's my current clearance level?"

Uh oh

Vex squinted, and attempted to tighten her grip. "Luna? Clearance? Hey, who are you talking to? Stop it!"

Leslie spoke up into her ear, "Given your current positioning, looks like you're clear for a 10."

There was a twinkle in MegaGal's eye. "10! 10 is good! God, I love farm country!"

Vex felt herself losing her grip. Wait, no, her grip was fine. The damn girl had just started growing again! She stretched further and further across the grassy fields, spreading out in all directions.

I... don't know if we can get much bigger than we currently are. This is the biggest we've ever been!

MegaGal narrowed her eyes. "There's the strange voice again," she said under her breath. It sounded a bit clearer now, but she still couldn't make out the words. Still, she didn't have time to dwell on it, she had to focus. She could feel her entire body expanding, growing taller and taller. Her eyes darted to the number in the HUD of her visor that was rapidly climbing, keeping track of her current height, helping her make sure she didn't overdo it. "Three..." she said out loud as she sat up, taking a deep breath.

Vex clung to her neck until it got too big to wrap her arms around, and MegaGal's hair started to push into her, so she had to move over onto her shoulder, swatting the hair out of her face. At this point she was merely sticking to her back like she would on a building.

"Four..." MegaGal continued, her growth starting to pick up the pace. "...Five!" she slowly started to stand up straight, her shoes beginning to spread across the uninhabited wheat fields, even growing over the previously mentioned craters from her abrupt fall.

“Si-Seven!” she said with a stutter. The growth was accelerating, so she had to ease up or risk being much bigger than she intended. A sudden zipping sound caught her attention, and she peered downwards to see her zipper sliding down as her bust line started to expand further and further. She could also feel the bottom half of her suit begin to ride up, her thighs beginning to feel very snug in the short-trimmed leggings.

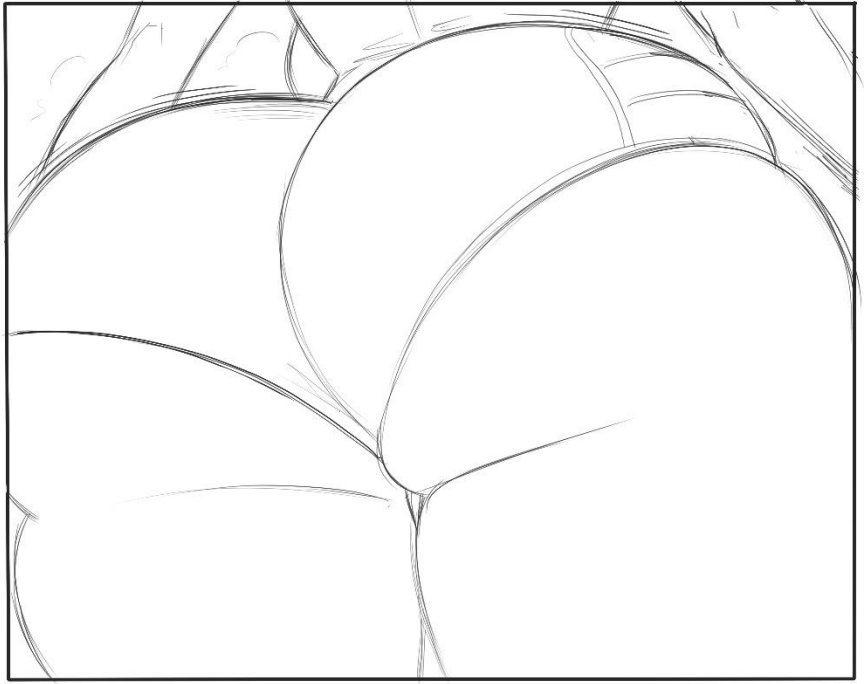

Vex looked down to see MegaGal’s increasingly large butt swell out behind her.

Well, at least we’ll have something to catch us if we fall

Very funny!

Who said I was joking?

MegaGal let out an “Unf” as she tried to stifle a groan. She couldn’t let herself get lost in how good it felt, and tried to rein in her composure. “You got this, c’mon. Nine...” she said quietly, her acceleration finally starting to slow, and she barely noticed the weight of Vex on her back at this point. “Aaand ten!” she finished, but noticed that she hadn’t stopped. She grit her teeth and winced as she tensed up her muscles to try and force it to stop, and it actually worked.

Though she noticed that her muscles had actually grown a bit because of that, being very noticeable, like an Olympic athlete.

She looked at her visor and let out a sigh of relief. “Ten point eight, phew. That was close.” She scanned the area below her, tiny clouds dotting her plane of view. As some clouds slowly floated by her face, she blew out a gentle puff of air, scattering them so that she could take it all in more clearly.

“Too close, Mega,” Rook chimed in.

“Just watch your step,” added Penny.

“Well I would if I could see my feet...” MegaGal replied, eying her protruding bust. The zipper on her suit was straining as flesh squeezed slightly out around her neckline. They were much bigger than any normal woman could hope to achieve, and well, standing at 10,800 feet tall, they were bigger than a lot of things. Almost unconsciously one of MegaGal’s hands drifted to her stomach, sliding over the bumps of her sudden defined abs through the suit. Her hand continued to slide upwards to the bottom of her breast, cupping it, and she bobbed it up and down, feeling how hefty the mound of flesh was. She squeezed gently and inhaled sharply as she shut her eyes. It always felt good to let loose with her size like this, like she was coming up for air after holding her breath underwater. She gently bit her lip as she let go of her boob, watching as it bounced and jiggled.

“Mega, focus. Remember your training exercises. We can’t afford you growing any bigger. And I should remind you that you’re not alone with that little passenger you’ve got,” Amie calmly spoke into the mic, this being a familiar talk for her.

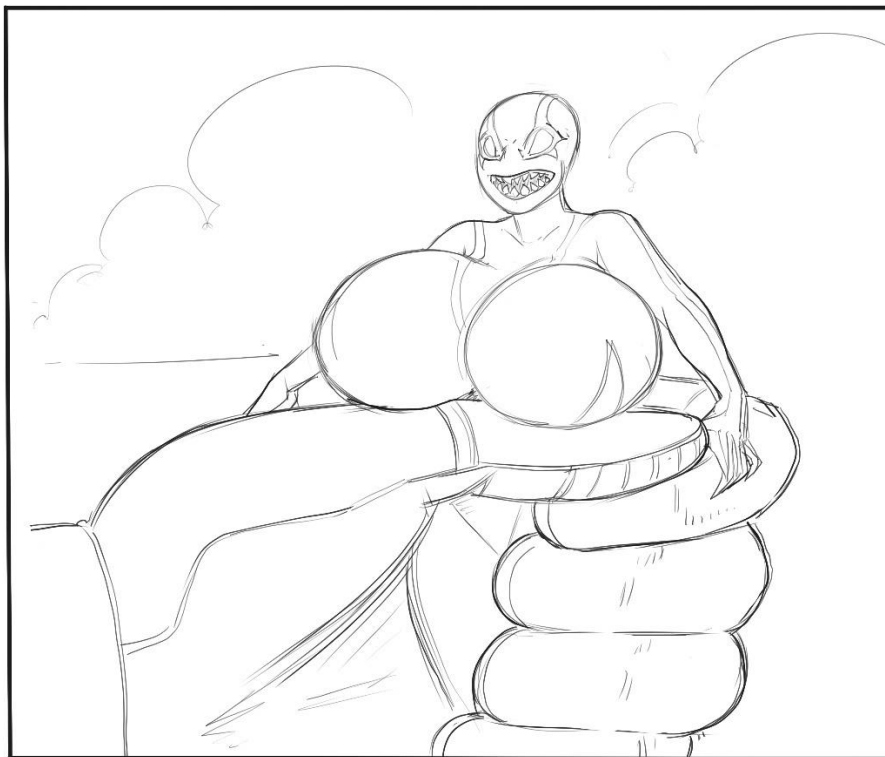

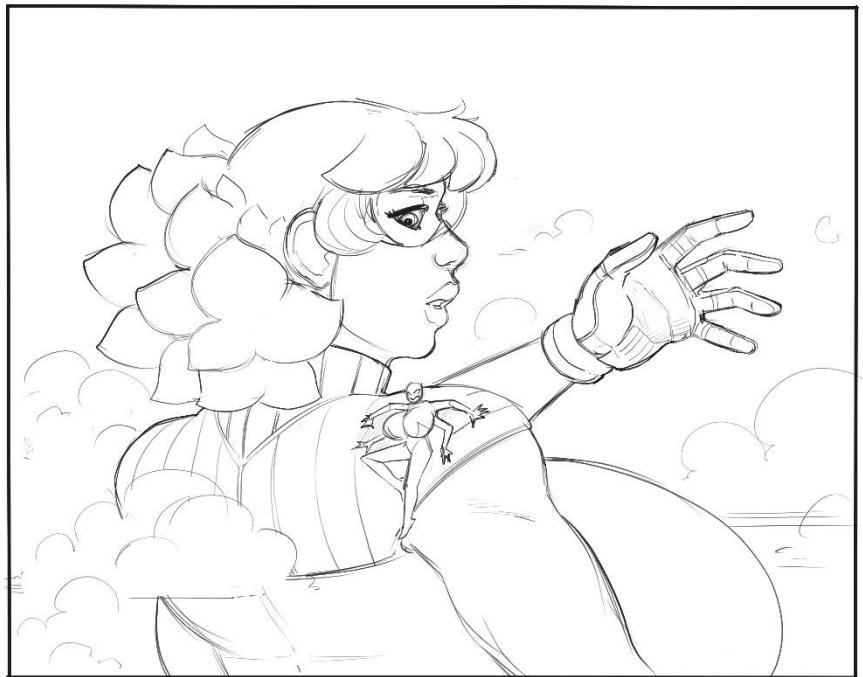

“Right, right. Okay,” MegaGal said, slowly exhaling and wiping her brow. Slowly she reached a hand to her back, being careful not to be too grabby, especially with her current muscles. She paused, admiring her bicep and how athletic she looked while she was bending her arm back.

Vex was unsure what to do as she watched the hand coming towards her, especially considering she didn’t have a whole lot of options in the first place. MegaGal grabbed her, peeling her off of her shoulders like one might pull a stickey sock off of their clothes after laundry day.

Vex looked up at her giant face while she was held in her fist. “Not again.”

MegaGal held Vex in front of her, smiling.

“So... about that explanation,” her voice said, booming.

Vex frowned, and sighed, putting all four of her hands up. “Fine, you win. I’m done. I’m way too tired to be doing this anyway. Can you keep it down though? You’re really really loud.” Her symbiote seemed to be in discomfort from the sound of her voice alone.

“Hm?” Mega said, cocking her head. “OH!” she gasped, putting her hand over her mouth, forgetting how much louder she could be at this size. She removed her hand and raised her finger in front of her lips. “Sorry!” she said, in a much softer voice.

Jim stood in front of his gas station with his arms crossed, surveying the damage to his pump. It definitely was not salvageable at all, but at least MegaGal had prevented any more damage. He turned to look at her, her giant feet alone completely blocking the view he’d normally have of the city in the distance. He craned backwards, looking practically straight up to see the top half of her, but couldn’t see her face. Not only because of the clouds in the way, but also because he couldn't see it past her tits. He snorted through his nose before picking his paper up off the ground and wandering back to his rocking chair, sitting down.

"So, first question then," MegaGal said, putting up one finger with her other hand. "Why are you here, and how did you teleport to my hand? I mean, technically that's two questions, but still."

Vex's face twisted to a look of annoyance. "Why am I... How the hell should I know?! You're the one who grabbed me and brought me here!"

MegaGal pursed her lips and furrowed her brow. "I'm preeetty sure I'd remember meeting a kaiju who looks like you," she said, lightly poking one of Vex's tits with a huge finger.

"Hey!" Vex shouted, her breast still bouncing from the poke. "And I don't know what to tell you, because that's what happened! You were wearing different clothes, but it was definitely you! And I'm not a kaiju, stop calling me that."

MegaGal felt an inclination to trust her, but she knew she'd need more than a feeling to convince Luna. "Well, I'm gonna need a little more to go on than your word. We get a lot of different kaiju around here."

Vex frowned, looking up into MegaGal's giant face. She let out a long sigh, before finally relenting. "Alright, here." The symbiote peeled away from the top of her head, her blonde hair flopping down onto her shoulders as the black skin slid down, replacing a toothy alien face with a green eyed and freckled one. "That good enough for you?"

MegaGal's eyes went wide upon seeing Hailey's face. "Oh! Oh my God! You're -You're... Oh, I feel like it's on the tip of my tongue! Vvvv... Vvvvvaaaaa... it starts with a V, right?"

Hailey raised an eyebrow and squinted her eyes in a very confused expression. "Yes... It's -I'm Vex. How did you... How did you know that?"

MegaGal giggled excitedly, "I don't have any idea!"

After having been silent for a bit, her earpiece suddenly exploded with questions and comments, all rapidly talking at the same time.

"Wait, wait, she's human?" "We need to get her up here to answer questions right now." "How did you recognize her Mega?" "Are we sure it's not a trick?" "This still doesn't explain how she-"

"Guys, c'mon, one at a time!" MegaGal said as she shook her head and put her free hand to her earpiece.

Heh, looks like you're not the only one with a voice in your head Hailey

MegaGal perked up, and looked at Vex. "Alright, alright, I CAN'T be the only one hearing that! Do you hear that?"

"You... mean the voices in whatever earpiece you're wearing?" Vex asked, pointing towards her ear.

MegaGal shook her head. "No, there's another voice, not yours, not mine, and not theirs. It's like, barely a whisper, and I can't really understand it. I've been hearing it every now and then since you showed up."

...She can't mean me, can sh-

"See! There it is again!"

Hailey ran one of her hands through her hair. This made no sense that she'd be able to hear the symbiote, since it was talking directly to her in her head, but there was a whole lot of things that didn't make sense today. "Well... this might sound weird but... that's my suit talking to me."

MegaGal cocked her head slightly and raised an eyebrow. "Like, how I have a team that talks to me?"

"Not exactly. See, my suit isn't really a suit. It's an alien that's formed a symbiotic bond with me, sharing my body. It's alive, and all my powers come from it. All of... this," Vex said, motioning to her body.

And don't forget these!

The lower symbiote arms squished her large breasts together, and Hailey pulled them away. "Yeah, yeah, she gets it."

"Well this only raises more questions for me," Leslie muttered on her headset.

"You've got an alien attached to you?" MegaGal said, her eyes lighting up. "And it gives you all these powers? That's so cool!"

Vex shrugged. "And what about you? I thought it was just size changing stuff like me at first, but there's clearly more to it with that fire punch you did back there." One hand brushed the side of her head, making sure none of her hair was singed by the flames.

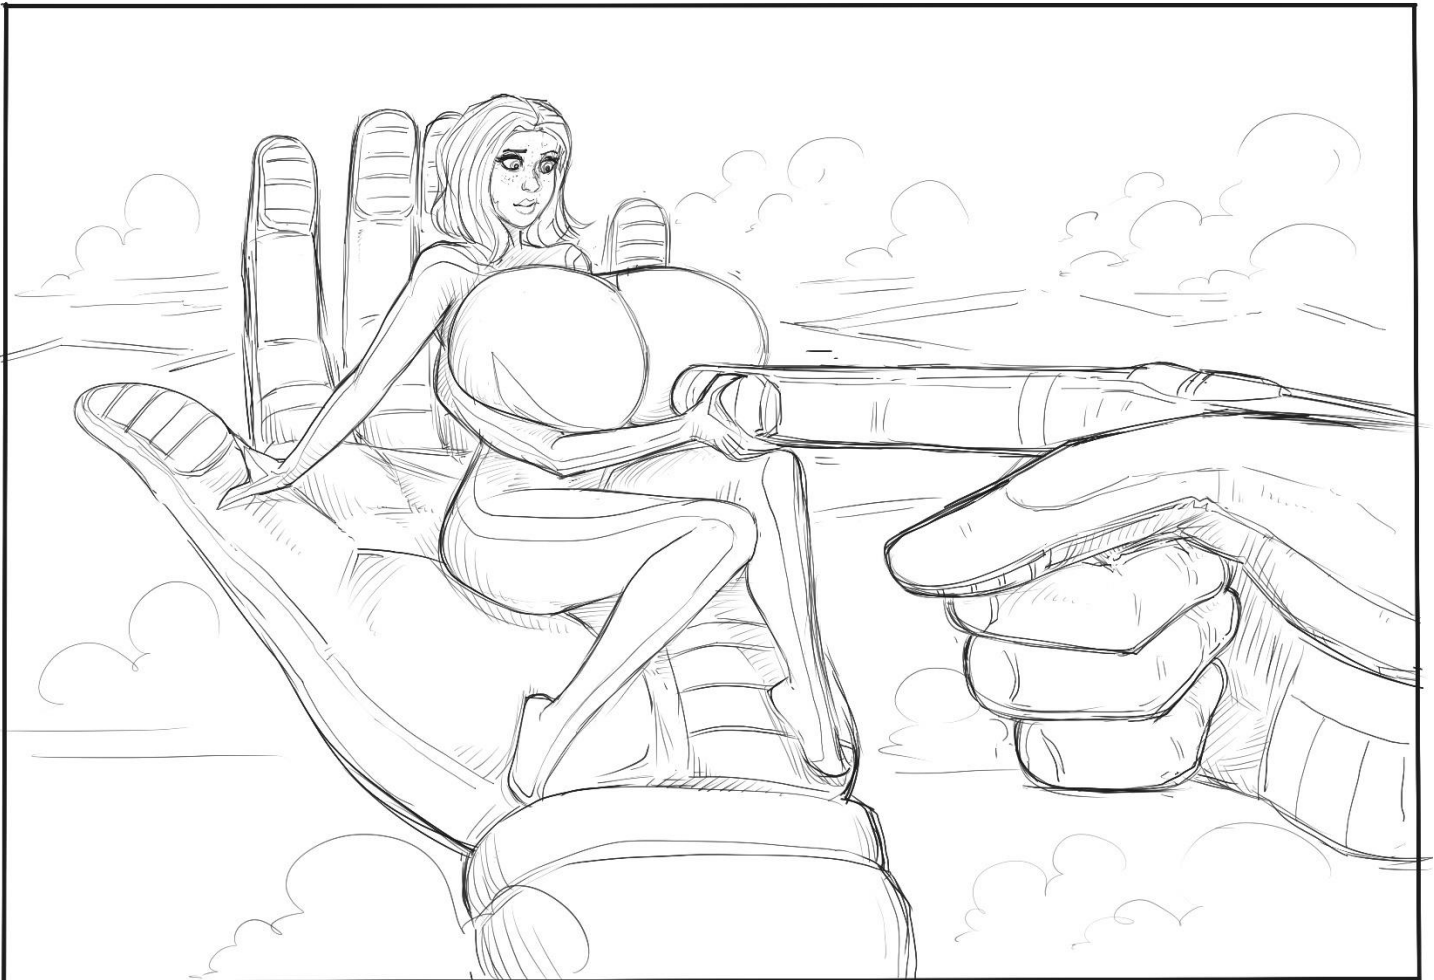

"Well, it's kind of complicated..." MegaGal started, trailing off. "And I really am sorry about that."

"I mean, admittedly I'm the one who should be sorry," Vex said as she craned her neck to look way down at the ground. "I was really dizzy and disoriented when I was teleported and I stepped on that guy's gas station accidentally."

"This still classified as a kaiju battle, so he will be reimbursed for the damages," Penny reminded her. "As will the farmers for their crops you've flattened."

"Hey, no one got hurt and that's what's important," MegaGal said with a smile, slowly turning her hand into a flat position and opening her fist, letting Vex sit on her palm. "I really feel like there's been a bit of a misunderstanding, and that we should try starting over." She extended a giant finger from her other hand, holding it in front of Vex. "You can call me MegaGal."

Vex wasn't really sure what to do, but her symbiote acted first. It stretched her two bottom arms out, and shook the finger up and down. "Uh, hey MegaGal."

MegaGal concentrated as much as she could and very slowly began to shrink back down towards the ground. While she was doing this, a whole other discussion was going on in her ear.

"There's so many questions we need her to answer, we need to bring her up here," Amie said.

"Amie, she's clearly connected to MegaGal in some way, and she said she had seen her before. I think we have to let her handle this," Rook replied.

“Plus, she didn’t actually come from the moon gate, so I’m not sure how much jurisdiction we even have over her,” Leslie added.

Indie spoke up, saying, “It’s not just stuff from the moon gate we handle, so I’m not seeing the issue.”

They squabbled with each other for a bit before Penny finally added her own thoughts, “Shouldn’t we get MegaGal’s thoughts on how to handle this?”

When MegaGal reached about 3000 feet tall, she lowered Vex to the ground and continued to shrink until she met Vex’s height at 1000 feet. It took all of her effort to compress herself so quickly from such a large size, causing her to wince slightly.

Vex just looked around at the absolutely massive footprint they were standing in, very much in awe of how truly big MegaGal had been just moments before.

“So, Vex. While we figure out exactly why you’re here, I think it’s best that you stick with me for the time being. I even think I know a place in the city you can stay while you get your head on straight. Does that sound okay with you?” MegaGal asked, placing a hand on Vex’s shoulder.

Vex gave a halfhearted smile, still unsure of how to feel about all this.

I like her Hailey, and she seems genuine. I say we trust her

She nodded. “Yeah, yeah, that sounds good. I could really use a break right now anyway.” She stretched all four of her arms while she opened her mouth in a wide yawn. MegaGal herself was walking over to pick up her rather small belt she had left on top of the water tower. She bent down to pick it up, and as soon as she grabbed it, it immediately began to grow in her hand, catching up with the rest of her. Vex raised her eyebrows in surprise. "Whoa. I explained my suit, but what's that suit made out of?"

"Uh, y'know..." MegaGal said, shrugging as she attempted to fasten the belt around her, though she was noticeably curvier after this growth session, and it wasn't fitting as well. "The tech guys made it from some... very rare stuff that uh, taps into my energy or something, and-"

"You have no idea how it works, do you?" Vex said, crossing two of her arms.

"Nooo Idea," MegaGal replied as she focused. She sucked in her breath and puffed out her cheeks as she finally fastened the belt together, her chest rapidly shrinking back to its default size. "There we go!" she said, feeling proud of herself. Usually she'd have trouble getting her body shape back that fast after so much growth, but she did that easily enough. That is until she noticed Vex looking at something behind her.

"My ass is huge, isn't it?" she asked. Turning her head, she saw her ass had doubled in size in response, jutting out from her backside even more prominently than it already had been. MegaGal's eyes widened, "Daaamn girl! H-haha... Ahem." She looked back to Vex blushing a little, "I-it'll go back down in a bit..." waving her hand assuredly. "Ahem...So how about we head into town then?" MegaGal said, desperately trying to get the new girl's attention away from her gigantic butt.

"And uh, before we head out," Vex said, rubbing the back of her neck. "You probably don't have a giant phone I can borrow, huh? Got some people back in Seattle I should call to let 'em know I won't be coming home tonight."

MegaGal giggled at the thought. "Obviously not. And Jim's station isn't big enough to have a payphone, but he probably has one inside you can use."

Hailey couldn't even think of the last time she'd even seen a payphone, so it was weird MegaGal would've recommended one. Still, she looked back at the small gas station. Jim sat on his rocking chair, seemingly unfazed by the whole experience, and from this height she could see around the back of the building where a pickup truck sat. It was some sort of Chevy that looked like it was from the 50's, though it was in remarkable condition. Jim must have taken very good care of it.

"No, that's fine, I'll just call my roommate when we get to the city. Oh, and maybe it'd be for the best if I go incognito. Wouldn't want anybody else mistaking me for kaiju."

Vex raised two of her arms up, and the lower ones quickly pulled back into her body, as if they were never there while her breasts shrunk to a more normal size. At the same time, her black suit shifted all around her, the gold lines disappearing as the entire thing changed color and texture. By the time she put her arms back down, she was wearing a loose white top that hung off one of her shoulders, and jeans that were moderately ripped, along with some vans to complete the look. As this all happened, her entire body shrunk down back to her normal height at 6 feet tall

MegaGal was blown away by this, and bent down to the ground as Vex shrunk to normal size.

“Whaaaat! You can change your look whenever?! That’s so cool! And you can go to normal size too? How do you do that?!”

Hailey had a smug look on her face after seeing how impressed she was, and didn’t try to hide it. Then it dawned on her. “Wait... What do you mean, you can’t shrink down to a normal size?” Vex asked.

“OH, like it’s sooo easy...” MegaGal replied with a tinge of jealousy in her voice. “But never mind that, what kinda outfit is that?” she asked after regaining her composure. “I’ve never seen anything like it.”

Hailey scrunched up her nose, perplexed by the question. “It’s... just normal clothes. How have you never seen something like this?”

MegaGal shrugged. “I mean, most of the girls I see in the city are wearing some sort of skirts or bell bottoms.”

This only served to confuse Hailey even more. “Bell bottoms?” she said, scratching her head. “Why would I be wearing...” the color drained from Hailey’s face as things started clicking into place for her. The payphone, the Chevy from the 50’s, bell bottoms. “M-MegaGal... What year is it?” she asked, her voice trembling slightly.

“That’s a... weird question,” MegaGal responded, noticing how off Hailey was suddenly looking. “It’s 1971. Is something wrong?”

Vex’s hands slid up the sides of her head as she grabbed fist fulls of hair. “No, no, no, no, no! This can’t be happening!”

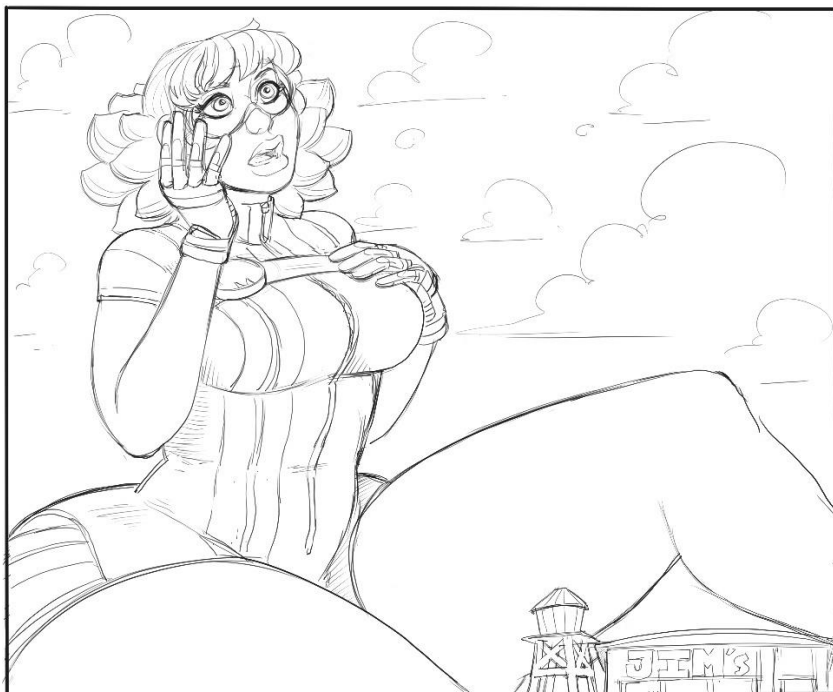

MegaGal crouched down, suddenly worried for her. “I don’t understand, what can’t be happening?”

“That’s why you didn’t recognize me!” Hailey said, her face contorted in a variety of conflicting emotions. “Because you’ve never met me! That was future you, and she didn’t just teleport me, she sent me back in time! I’m from the year 2020!”

MegaGal was stunned at her announcement. “My... future self?”

Rook spoke up into MegaGal’s ear, “Did she just say she was from the future?!”

“This-This explains so much! And think of the possibilities!” Leslie gasped, almost in an excited manner.

“This is so cool! What did my costume look like?” MegaGal asked, getting down onto her knees, her large posterior plopping down onto the back of her legs. “Wait a second, why would I do that to you? Just grabbing you out of nowhere and throwing you back in time? It sounds so... dastardly. Is that a bad guy move? Oh my gosh, am I a bad guy in the future?” MegaGal said, gasping and putting a hand to her cheek. Pausing for a moment, she stared off into nothing, as if completely stunned. Suddenly her face began to twist from astonishment to a stifling grin. She let out a loud chuckle. “Time powers? That’s SO rad! TIME POWERS!” she yelled out, putting her fists into the air in a heroic pose.

“I’ve had to deal with a bunch of crazy shit, but time travel takes the cake!” Hailey shouted, squeezing her face with her hands in a mix of anguish and annoyance.

MegaGal turned her attention back to Vex, who was definitely in a much worse mood than she was. Getting over her giggle fit, she shifted her weight onto her massive backside and composed herself before stating, “I really am sorry about this though,” looking rather concerned.

“MegaGal, based on what we have learned today we believe it is of most importance that you allow us to take in this Vex person,” Amie said with authority.

MegaGal’s expression turned to annoyance “What? No!” she exclaimed.

“Mega, she’s from the future. We have no idea what we are dealing with here,” Amie replied.

“A time paradox catastrophe is a potential possibility,” Leslie chimed in. “Please, you must understand-”

MegaGal only furrowed her brow deeper. “No, I refuse,” she said, cutting Leslie off. “Vex is MY responsibility, she’s here because of me! And I won’t just let her be taken into a facility to be studied. I will do this right,” she exclaimed, overwhelmed with a sense of valor. Reaching to her visor, she pressed in on the side, raising it off her face and onto the crown of her head. The Luna feed was cut, leaving the team with a blank observation screen.

“Welp... You just had to go and piss off the giant girl, didn’t you?” Penny said with snark in her voice. Amie let out a soft sigh.

MegaGal returned her attention to Vex and leaned down, scooping her up in her hands, holding the small woman in front of her face on her outstretched palm. “Hey, listen to me. We’re gonna get you home. I don’t know how yet, but we’ll figure it out together, okay?”

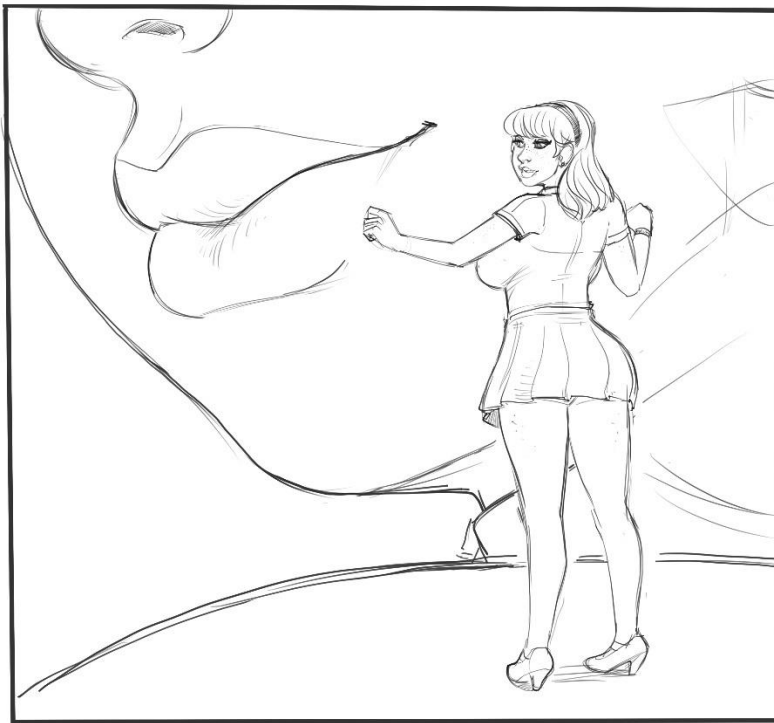

Hailey looked up at her face and nodded. “Yeah, yeah, okay. Okay. It’s fine. It’ll be fine.” Though she wasn’t quite sure if she believed herself.

“Here, how about I carry you back to the city?” MegaGal offered, tilting her head towards her shoulder. Hailey looked up at her and nodded. She crawled up her arm and onto her shoulder, taking a seat. With her securely in place, she turned back down to Jim and waved. “Seeya later Jim! They’ll send someone out to replace your pump, okay?”

Jim merely gave a thumbs up without looking away from his paper.

She turned back towards the city, and began the walk back, her large ass jiggling with each step. And though Hailey was obviously fairly upset, MegaGal couldn’t stop thinking about her future self that Hailey had mentioned.

MegaGal walked in silence for a bit, and kept taking peeks at her shoulder to see how Vex was doing. She was just running her hands over her clothes like she was trying to figure something out. Before long, her clothes started shifting over her body again, forming a black short sleeved buttoned top with a yellow skirt that fit loosely around her thighs. A black headband slid into place to complete the look. She looked up to see MegaGal’s large face looking at her. “Does this look more appropriate then?”

She was still very impressed by Vex’s ability to change her outfit on the fly, and nodded eagerly. “Speaking of outfits... You said I was wearing a different suit in the future?”

“Huh? Oh, right,” Hailey said, shrugging. “I mean, it was pretty similar to what you’re wearing right now. The gloves, shoes, visor, and lots of leg showing. But you had long sleeves, ditched the belt, and had a little outline of a cityscape across your chest.”

MegaGal looked down at her breasts, tracing a line with her finger across the suit, trying her best to picture what Vex was talking about.

“Wait, should I even be telling you any of this?” Hailey asked, running a hand through her hair. “Isn’t letting you know about stuff that hasn’t happened yet dangerous or something? Like Back to the Future.”

“Back to the Future? What’s that?” MegaGal asked.

Hailey rolled her head back, closing her eyes. “Right, that hasn’t been made yet. Forget I said anything.”

Aw man, does this mean they’re not gonna have Netflix?

Hailey groaned, “Man, you guys aren’t even gonna have internet!”

MegaGal had no idea what she was talking about, but was still trying to focus on the symbiote’s voice that she just couldn’t quite make out. “So, your little alien friend there, what do I call it?”

“Oh, well Vex is the name we came up with to call ourselves, so she just goes by that too. And she’s not technically a ‘she’, but I’ve just gotten used to calling her that since her voice sounds like mine.”

“Alright, but if you call her Vex by herself, and you call yourselves Vex together, then what’s your name?” MegaGal asked.

“Ah, ah, ah,” Hailey responded wagging a finger. “I may have shown you my face to convince you I’m human, but I’m not about to give away my entire secret identity.”

MegaGal’s eyes widened, and she stopped walking. “Secret identity?! Are you like some sort of super hero?!”

Hailey raised an eyebrow. "Uh, yeah? Are you not one? You've got a suit and powers and everything."

"Well yes, but I don't fight crime or anything. I usually just defend cities from giant kaiju and whatnot," MegaGal said, continuing her walk beside the road back to the city.

I don't think many criminals would want to mess with someone like her anyway

"Weird," Hailey said, scratching one of her shoulders. "So, you don't know any other superheroes or anything? I know they mostly hang out in New York in my time, but surely there must be some around that you've heard of."

MegaGal shook her head. "Only in comicbooks as far as I know. Unless Luna is keeping secrets from me. Which I guess wouldn't be surprising all things considered."

As MegaGal was walking along beside the road with telephone poles reaching up just to the top of her shoes, Hailey saw a car in the distance, headed towards them. As the Sedan neared, it slowed down a bit and started honking rapidly, the loud horn piercing the relative quietness. One of the back windows rolled down and two children leaned out of the window and rapidly waved at the giant woman. MegaGal smiled and waved back as the car passed, turning her head to watch as it drove away.

Well someone's popular

"Luna... I assume you're talking about the people you were talking to on your headset?" Hailey asked as she turned back to MegaGal, gesturing to her visor that was still up on her head.

MegaGal shrugged, causing Hailey to bounce in place on her shoulder, her breasts bouncing generously in her buttoned-up top. "Yeah, they're just your typical secretive government branch. The usual. They actually found me in the first place."

"Oh that's right, you mentioned not being able to shrink down or something? Have you always been big?"

"As long as I can remember. They've been helping me for a long time over the years as I've just grown bigger and bigger. Gave me a home and all that. And one day I decided I wanted to help. And so now I'm MegaGal!"

"What were you before you were MegaGal then?"

"Well, I'm not human, but I'm toootally not an alien. At least, I don't think I am. I ain't exactly a little green man."

Should I be offended right now?

MegaGal casually shoed away a bird that flew too close to her face as she continued, "And I'd tell you my name, buuuuuut you know superheroes gotta keep their secret identities, right?" MegaGal said, flashing her a playful smile. "I really do wish I could shrink down to a normal size like you can though. The best I can do is just over 50 feet tall, and even then, it's super uncomfortable. Speaking of, gotta get smaller since we're in the city limits now."

Concentrating once more, MegaGal slowly got smaller and smaller until she was down to 100 feet, still higher than all but one or two of the buildings in the city.

Hailey frowned slightly. She couldn't imagine not being able to go back to her normal life in the city, having to be big all the time, and felt bad for her. She looked down at MegaGal's feet stepping onto the street as they began to enter the city. Cars slowed to make way for her huge shoes, almost as if this was something they had more or less gotten used to, but there were still people on the sidewalks pointing up at the huge woman who loomed over the buildings that surrounded her. Thankfully her ass had diminished to a more manageable size, otherwise it'd be scraping the buildings on both sides of the street.

MegaGal lightly slid her fingers over the brick roof of a small office building, and turned the corner of the street, being careful to watch her step. Hailey could see their destination in front of her, a three-story building with a diner that took up the entire bottom floor that said "Jenny's" in bright red neon letters. A large parking lot surrounded the establishment, and as MegaGal approached, Hailey could make out a small patio out front with a few tables set up. It didn't look particularly busy, but there was someone sitting at one of the outside tables.

Hailey noticed that she was getting lower and looked down to see MegaGal's body was shrinking. MegaGal let out a long breath of air as she got smaller, shaking her hands beside her. Hailey also noticed her legs were trembling slightly with each step and was a bit worried.

"You... okay MegaGal?" She asked, looking back and forth between her legs and her face as there was less and less space on the shoulder she was sitting on.

"Yeah...yeah," MegaGal said, wincing her teeth as her height leveled out at 55 feet tall or so. "It's just... a bit harder to maintain this size. But I'll be fine. I'm fine." She did find it very cute that Vex was concerned about her though. She looked back towards Jenny's, quietly adding, "It's totally worth it." with a smile, glancing down towards the outdoor seating area in front of the diner.

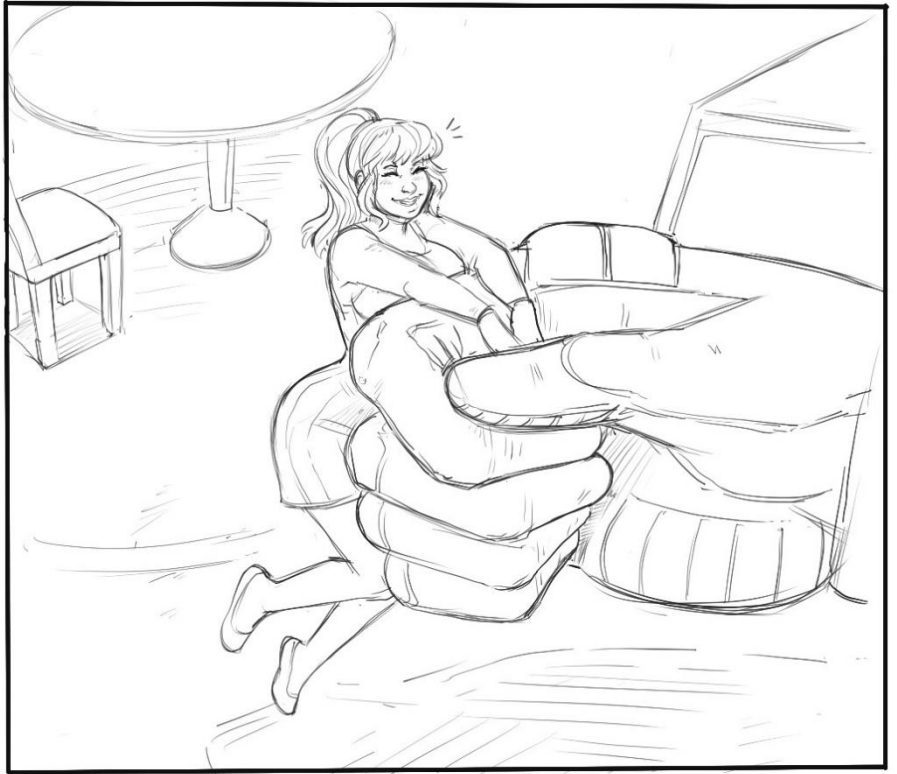

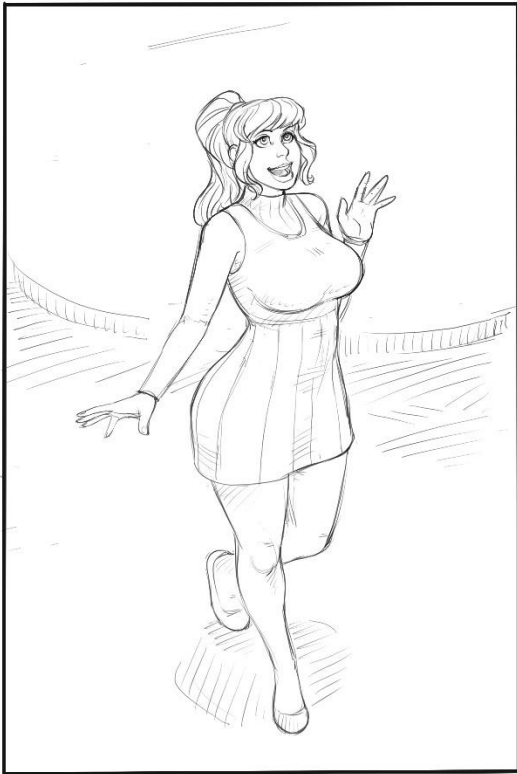

The red headed girl sitting at the table looked up from the book she was holding, shielding her eyes from the sun, and waved over at MegaGal's large approaching figure. MegaGal waved back and stepped into the parking lot.

Very carefully she picked up two cars that were parked close to one another and moved them to the other side of the lot. With most of the parking spaces now vacant, she sat her big butt down on the pavement, crossing her legs.

The red headed girl closed her book and unfastened her purse, sliding it inside. She had her hair done up in a ponytail, and the bright red color of it contrasted nicely with her blue one-piece skirt she wore, combined with her black undershirt and leggings. MegaGal extended a cupped hand to her, and the redhead stood up from her chair and hung her arms over MegaGal's fingers.

MegaGal raised her off the ground ever so slightly. "What's up short stuff?" she asked as the girl kicked her legs in the air.

"Took you long enough High-Rise!" The girl said with a smile as MegaGal lowered her back down, and then gently flicked her ponytail with a finger. She walked back to her seat as Hailey slid down MegaGal's other arm.

"I was beginning to think you'd forgotten about... this..." Her voice trailed off as her green eyes locked with Hailey's who stepped onto the ground. "Oh. You... brought someone else? To our lunch."

"Yeah, sorry May, it was a whole thing." MegaGal said, bending over and resting her chin on her hands with her elbows on her knees.

"I wouldn't be here by choice, believe me," Hailey spoke up as she walked towards the table and took a seat. Hailey guessed she was about a head taller than her, and could tell the girl was trying to get a read on her. She picked up her root beer bottle and took a sip from the straw as her eyes scanned Hailey. She glanced up at MegaGal before she let out an accepting sigh.

"It's fine. I guess something went down in the farmlands? I could see Mega's big butt from here."

MegaGal turned her head to look over her shoulder. "It wasn't thaaaat big."

Hailey stifled a laugh. "It was pretty big."

The giant girl dismissively waved at Hailey. "Anyway. I guess we have some introductions to do! May, I'd like you to meet... Uh... Vvvvanessa?"

"Sure, let's go with that," Hailey said with a shrug.

"Oh no," May said, sliding her drink to the side and putting her hand to her face. "Not the name game."

MegaGalsquinted, giving Hailey a side eyed look. "I'm gonna guess it eventually. And you have to tell me if I'm right!"

"Fine. And it definitely doesn't start with a V, I'll tell you that much."

MegaGal opened her mouth to make another guess, but was interrupted by a woman walking out of the door. She was wearing a diner's uniform and her brown hair hung down to her shoulders. Her bright red lips smiled as she looked up at MegaGal saying, "MegaGal! So good ta see you again!"

"Hey Jenny!" MegaGal said with a big smile as the woman leaned her arm on May and Hailey's table.

"It's been too long Gal! Was startin' ta think the food I gave ya last time wasn't good enough!"

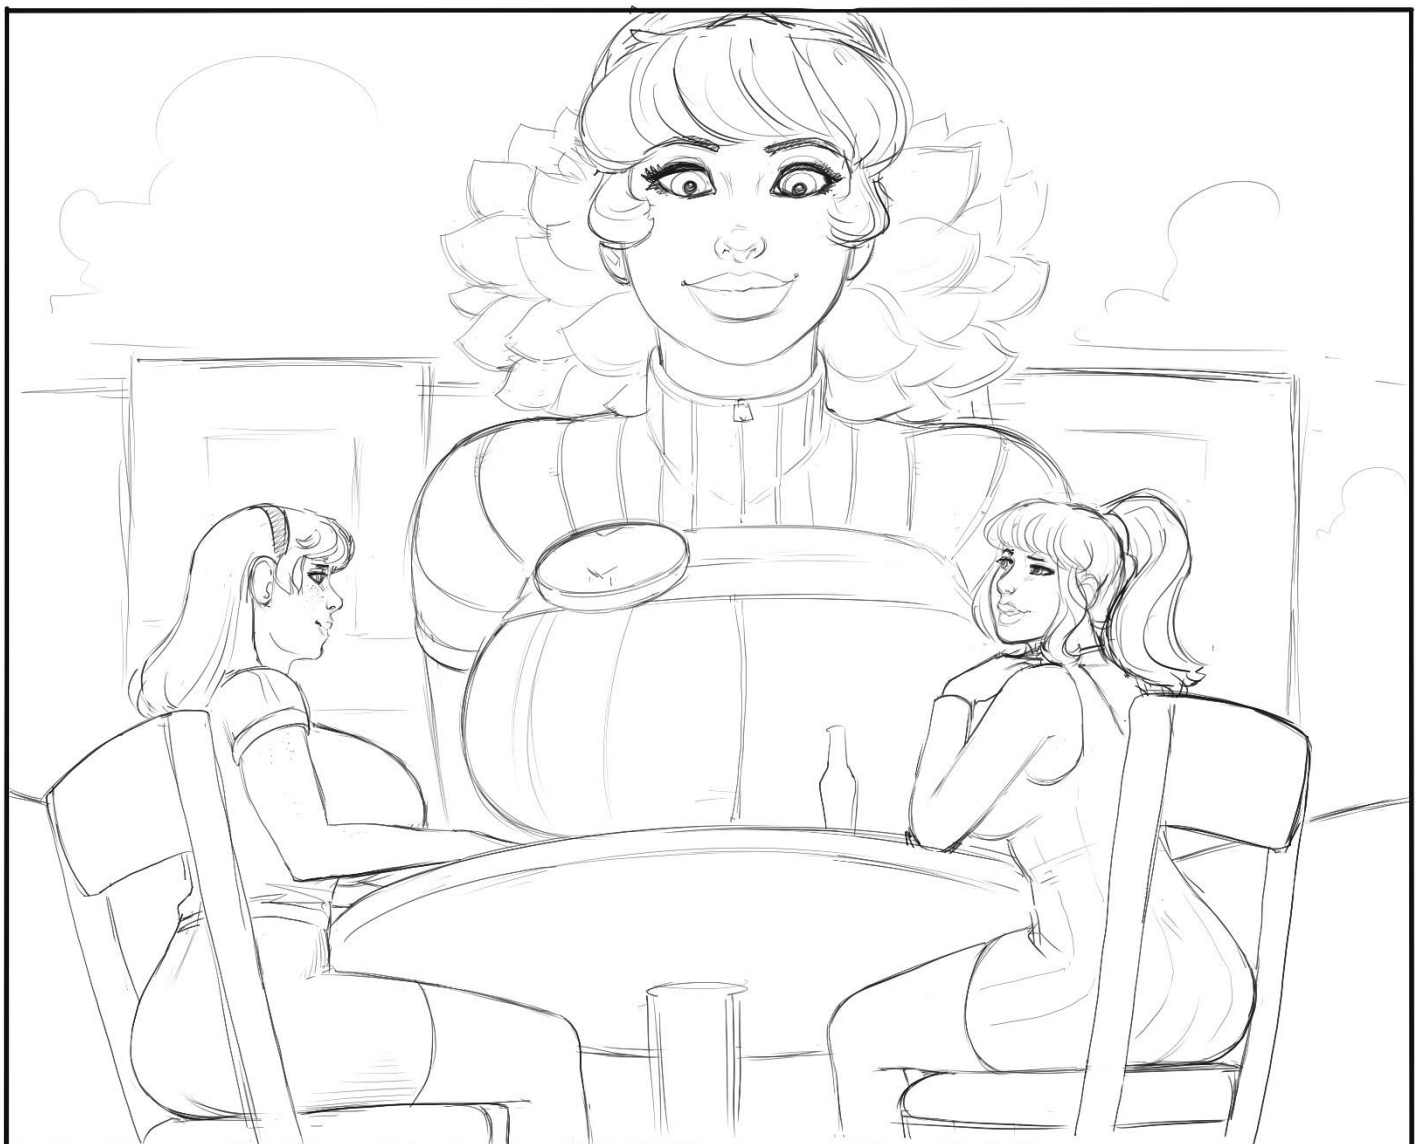

"Jenny, c'mon! You know I love everything you make here!" said MegaGal with a playful roll of her eyes.

Jenny chuckled. "Well Ah'm glad ta hear it, cuz yer lil' friend May here called ahead! Y'all just wait here and I'll be back in a jiff." The woman turned around and headed back through the door, the small bell hanging above it ringing as she did so.

May turned back to Hailey, putting an arm on the table. "So what should I actually call you?"

Hailey pursed her lips, thinking for a moment. "Well I guess Vex is fine."

One of May's red eyebrows raised. "Wasn't expecting a name like that."

"It's her superhero name!" MegaGal excitedly whispered down to her with her hand cupping the side of her mouth.

"A superhero?!" May said with a surprised yet excited look in her eyes.

"And she's from the fuuuuuuuure!"

May could only look at Hailey in more amazement. "You're definitely gonna need to tell me everything. But before that, I think our food is coming."

The sound of a truck backing up got their attention, and MegaGal leaned to look around the building to see a large semi-truck slowly backing up towards them. She sniffed the air and caught the aroma of all sorts of food coming from the truck. Her stomach growled as she began to salivate at the thought of what was inside.

The truck came to a stop and the Jenny hopped out of the driver's seat. She walked to the back of the truck, looking at MegaGal. "The timing couldn't be more perfect. We needed a trial run to see if we could make enough food for the parade tomorrow!" she said, pulling off the latch and throwing the doors open. Inside the huge semi was racks upon racks of food, from fresh hamburgers to apple pies, and everything in between. MegaGal's eyes were practically jumping out of her head at the feast before her. Jenny quickly grabbed two loose trays of food that were set off to the side and slid them onto the table for May and Hailey.

"Thank you so much again for doing this Jenny!" May said, putting a hand to her chest.

"Like ah said darlin', mah boys needed the practice. And besides, the big gov' ment check I get in the mail from the big Gal's friends aint too bad neither."

MegaGal looked over at the girls, biting her lip as she had almost forgotten about how uncomfortable holding this size was for her. Eating was something she absolutely loved to do, and fresh diner food was so much more enjoyable than the rations they had back at base.

"Well what are ya waitin' Gal? Dig in!" Jenny said with a laugh.

As soon as Jenny said that, MegaGal immediately grabbed an entire multilayered rack of food, dumping all of the contents directly into her huge mouth. She set the empty rack on the ground beside her while she grabbed another one with her other hand, repeating the process. May and Hailey grabbed their own food and began to eat, though Hailey couldn't help but feel like she was eating slow in comparison to the giant girl who was wolfing down what would be a week's worth of food for her. As she ate, a man in a suit with keys in one hand and a paper under his arm walked out the front door of the diner and seemed shocked to see the giant girl gorging herself in the parking lot. He shook his head and then scanned the parking lot, seemingly perplexed. Hailey waved at him and pointed over her shoulder with her thumb at the cars MegaGal had moved out of the way. He nodded at Hailey as he walked towards his car, muttering something to himself with a smile as he looked back at MegaGal.

By the time the girls were halfway done their own meals, Hailey noticed that MegaGal had already cleaned out half of the inside of the truck, but that wasn't all she noticed. Looking at MegaGal's midsection, she noticed that her belly was bulging out quite a bit, and it was only getting bigger. Hailey blinked as she watched it swell more and more as MegaGal continued emptying rack after rack of food, and she barely seemed to notice how big her own belly was. And it was hardly the only thing growing either. Her whole body had started to slowly grow again, as she started to inch taller, and her ass cheeks beginning to spill over the end of the parking lot.

"She's certainly enjoying herself, isn't she?" May added, staring at MegaGal's growing body. Hailey just slowly nodded in agreement, not being able to look away from the spectacle.

That's one way to put it

The parts of the suit around MegaGal's stomach looked like they were now straining to hold all of her gut in, which now was big enough that it looked like she had swallowed a MegaGal-sized exercise ball. She had to shift onto her knees to get around her belly as she reached her arms all the way into the truck trailer to pull out the last racks of food.

With them safely cradled in her hands against her incredibly round girth, she stood up at roughly 70 feet tall, and as gently as she could, sat on top of the roof of the diner. It creaked under her weight a bit, and Hailey saw Jenny rub the back of her neck nervously. But soon enough, MegaGal finished off the last racks of food and got up, placing them on the ground. She slapped her belly with her hands and looked down at the girls who weren't even done with their own meals yet.

"I don't know how she pulls it off, but she still manages to look great with a belly like that," May said, biting her lip as she looked up at her. Hailey herself merely raised an eyebrow at May's comment. She had seen plenty of giant boobs in her times as a superhero, but giant bellies were a new experience for her.

MegaGal realized everyone was staring but tried to play it off casually. "Thank you sooooo much Jenny, that was so delicious!" she said as she rubbed her belly, not actually realizing just how big it was in the food-induced daze she was feeling from stuffing herself. She tried to suck it in as if that somehow would make it go away, and when that didn't work, MegaGal decided she'd need a better solution. She stepped forward and did a huge satisfied stretch, holding her arms high above her head.

"I always love this part," May said excitedly, putting her drink down to give MegaGal her full attention.

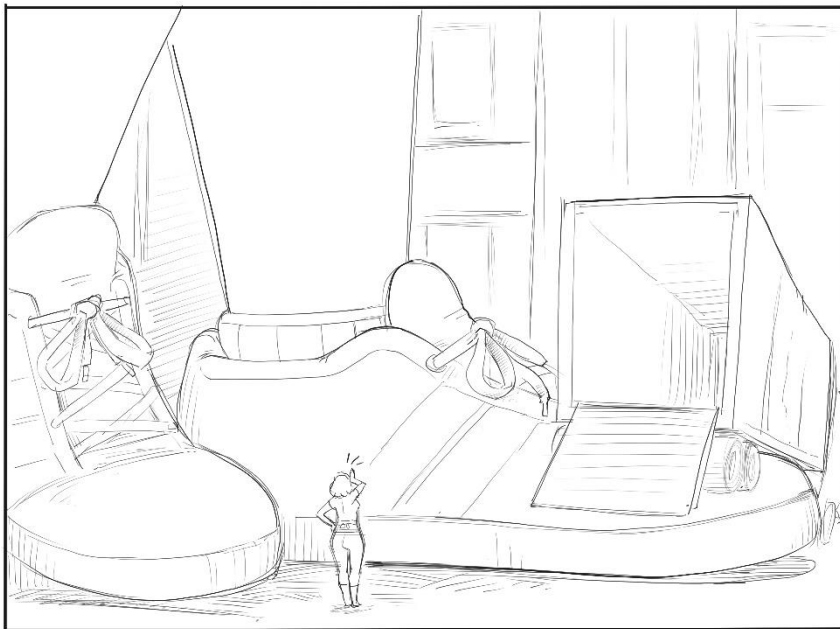

As she stretched, she began to grow, and the tip of one of her shoes got caught under the trailer of the truck, lifting it up as she increased in size. Hailey finished off her burger as MegaGal reached the safety zone size within the city, a meager 150 feet tall. Her gut had all but disappeared into her as she had literally grown into it. She let out a satisfied sigh as she looked down to inspect her body, grinning as she patted her belly that was now back to normal.

“Hey Hon?” Jenny shouted up at the tall girl, pointing at her foot.

MegaGal looked down and saw her pointing at the semitruck which was currently hanging over her shoe, and giggled. “Sorry about that Jenny!” she said, stooping down to place it back on the ground.

“Anyway, you girls ready to head out?” MegaGal said, lowering herself into a squatting position and putting her hand flat on the pavement.

A sucking sound made Hailey look over at May, who was slurping the last of her soda through the straw, and she placed the bottle back on the table. “Thanks again Jenny. See you at the parade tomorrow!” she said with a wave as she walked towards MegaGal’s hand. Hailey followed, thanking the woman who walked back into the diner. May sat down onto MegaGal’s hand, scooting backwards into the middle of her palm, and Hailey stepped onto the hand as well, deciding to stand. She shook slightly as MegaGal raised the hand up to the medallion on her belt, and May sat on the edge of it, putting her back to the giant girl’s suit. Hailey crawled up until she was sitting on MegaGal’s shoulder, just above May.

“I’m just glad I don’t have to take the bus back home,” May said, looking up at MegaGal’s face.

Instead she’s just taking the bust back home, heheh

Hailey shook her head with a smile at the symbiote’s lame pun as MegaGal turned towards the large Hill overlooking the city, heading towards it. “By the way, thanks for reminding me about the parade tomorrow May, I would’ve totally forgotten,” MegaGal spoke up.

“Would have been pretty embarrassing for the person who’s the parade about not to show up,” May responded with a smirk on her face.

“You have a parade about you?” asked a surprised Hailey.

May nodded. “Yeah, it’s a celebration of the fourth year of MegaGal protecting the city. Wait, why are you surprised? You’re a superhero, surely you must have your own parades? Oh no, please tell me parades are still a thing in the future.”

Hailey chuckled, “Don’t worry, parades aren’t going anywhere. But no, some of the more popular heroes get parades and stuff, but I guess I’m just not big enough yet.”

“I dunno...” MegaGal said, grinning. “I haven’t known you very long, but you seemed pretty big during our whole little misunderstanding,” she said, walking up the large hill, being careful to avoid some of the suburban houses that were hidden between the trees.

May's eyes lit up. "You can grow too?!" she excitedly asked, glancing in Hailey's direction.

"Among other things..." Hailey said as a black arm sprouted out of her shirt, waving its fingers at May, who's mouth popped open in surprise. "Still, I can't get anywhere near as big as MegaGal here can."

"Still..." MegaGal retorted, looking at Hailey mischievously, "You shoulda' seen how big she made her boobs when I met her."

Hailey's freckled face reddened a bit as she twirled a lock of her blonde hair with her hand. She looked away from the girls to see an observatory on the ground, which means they must have been on top of the hill. The houses all but disappeared down the other side of it, though there was a very large clearing around a house closer to the bottom of the other side.

Gee, you think the girl with the giant friend lives in the house with the huge clearing around it?

As MegaGal continued making her way towards the house, Hailey had to agree with the symbiote. Based on the extremely wide dirt path beside the small road leading to the house with a vast forest behind it, it seemed MegaGal visited her friend May quite a bit.

"You live alone out here?" Hailey asked, curious.

"Nah, I'm just living with my folks, but they're on a business trip right now, so we got the place all to ourselves," May said, staring at her approaching home.

"Probably for the best," MegaGal said with a playful tone. "I don't know if they could handle you bringing yet another giant girl home."

Honestly, she seems like she'd be a lot to handle even if she wasn't giant

Hailey stifled a giggle at the symbiote's comment because she couldn't really disagree. The three girls neared closer to the house, and MegaGal held up her hand to the front of her breast. May grinned and slid off the side of the medal, sliding all the way down MegaGal's boob and landing safely in her palm.

Well... when in Rome!

With a Shrug, Hailey followed suit, leaning forwards from her shoulder perch until she too slid down towards MegaGal's hand. She made sure to hold her skirt on the way down so it didn't fly upwards in the process. She plopped down onto her bum right next to May who had one of MegaGal's fingers draped over her like some kind of giant seatbelt.

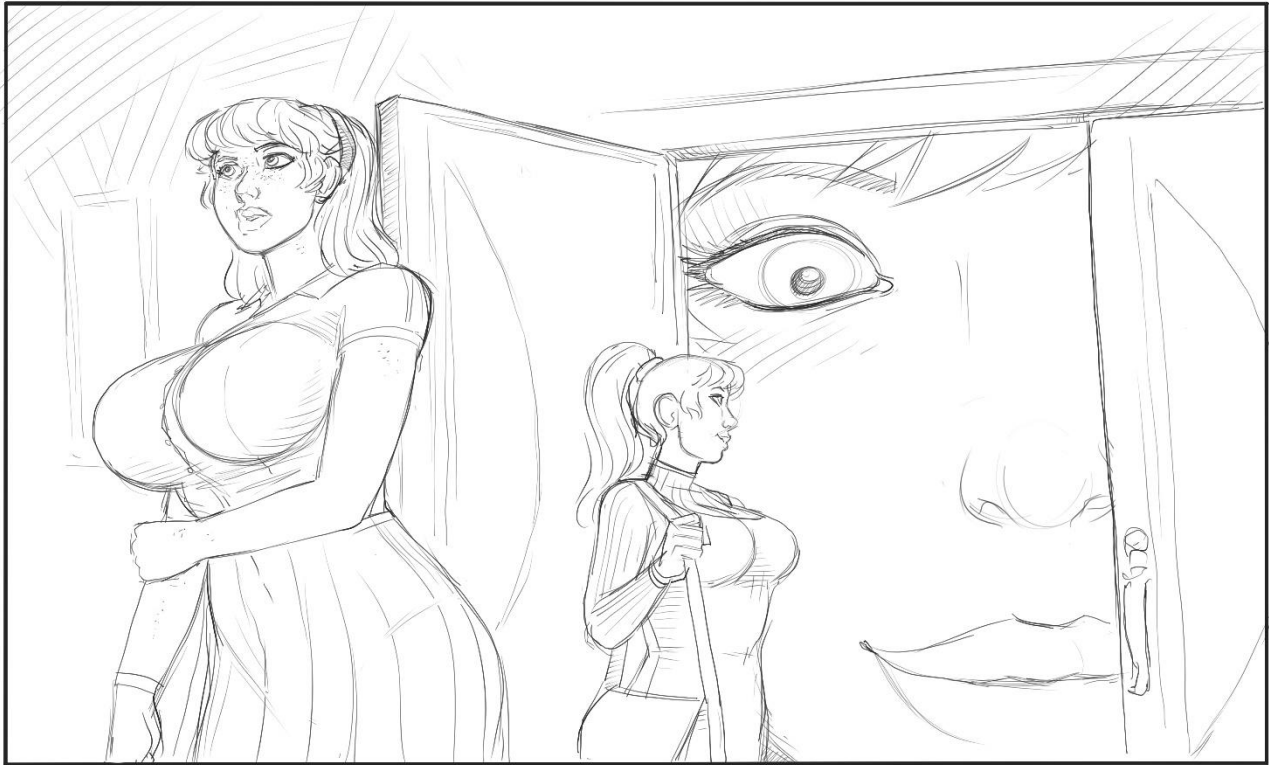

They were lowered to the ground safely by MegaGal, who uncurled her finger to let May off. The redhead rifled through her purse as Hailey and her walked towards the front door. MegaGal sat down on her knees behind them as May pulled out her keys.

"So you're okay with me just crashing on the couch then?" Hailey asked, as a large yawn stretched her mouth open. She was incredibly tired from being up for so long, and though the day's excitement had given her a bit of an energy boost, that had long worn off now, especially after her meal at the diner.

"No worries, we've got a guest room!" May said as she unlocked the door, swinging it open. "After you," she added with a gesture.

MegaGal brought her head down low and tilted it to the side as she watched Hailey walk through. "Well hey, if the couch is free, maybe I could always use it instead," MegaGal said to May playfully, sticking her tongue between her teeth with a smile.

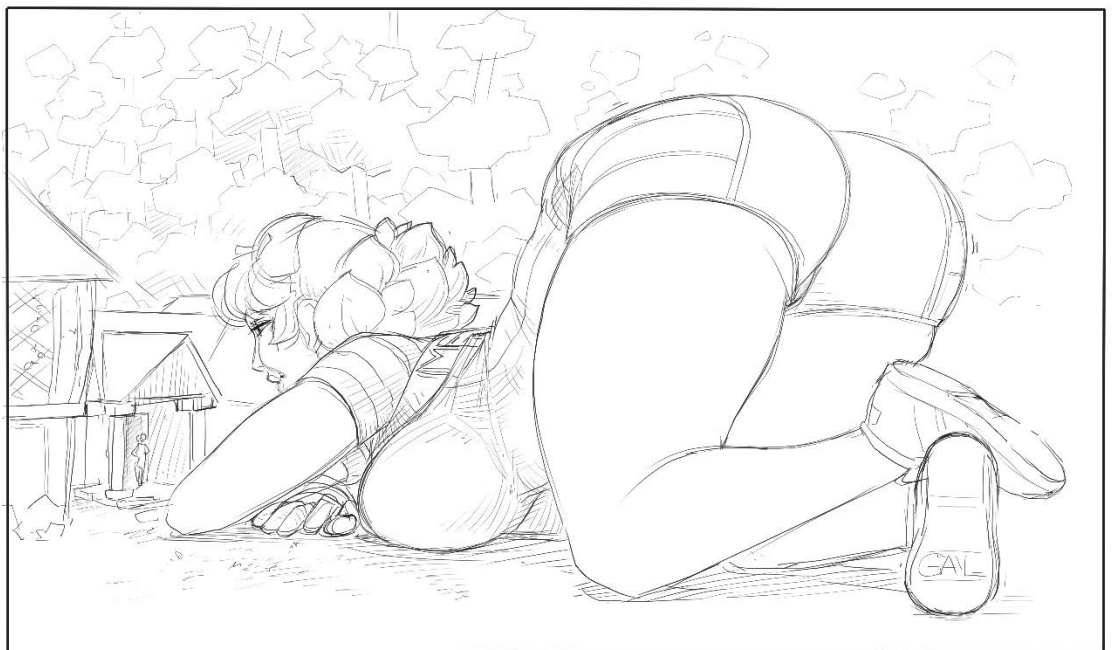

May grabbed the door handle but looked back at MegaGal with a smirk. "I'd rather not have to fish it out of your butt cheeks after you're through with it."

One of MegaGal's eyebrows raised. "And here I thought you liked spelunking."

This made May's cheeks redden and she looked away from her for a moment before adding, "Meet you around back?"

"I bet you'd like that." MegaGal said with a wink.

May's face got even redder, and she quickly closed the door, leaving MegaGal alone. She stood up stretched her leg over the whole house, stepping over it and making sure there was room to lie down in the backyard.

Inside, Hailey was trying to take everything in. It was all so... retro. From the small tube tv to the shag carpeting, it was a real blast to the past.

"This looks like my Grandma's house." she muttered quietly under her breath as May took her shoes off, placing them in the closet. Without even looking at her feet, Hailey's shoes receded into her socks as the symbiote transformed them, and she wiggled her toes on the cool tile flooring in the foyer.

"So, the guest room is just around here," May said, walking straight past the stairs and around the corner, opening a door. Hailey followed her into the room and let out a small smile upon seeing the bed. It was a sight for sore eyes, even if it wasn't hers. The actual room was very neat, but looked like it hadn't been used in a long time.

I guess their regular visitor can't exactly use it

"If you need anything else, don't be afraid to ask," May said, leaning against the door frame, looking up at Hailey. "It's still pretty early, but you look awfully tired. I'll just be hanging out with Mega for a while. Oh, and the bathroom is at the top of the stairs, you can't miss it. Past that is my room, that's the one with the beads hanging in the doorway."

"Thanks May," Hailey said, rubbing her eyes and walking towards the bed. "I hope I'm not too much trouble or anything."

"Hey, any friend of MegaGal's is a friend of mine," She said, flicking off the light.

Hailey resisted the urge to tell her that she was hesitant to call the giant girl who kidnapped them in the future for reasons unknown a 'friend'.

Hey, give it time. I like her!

Do you like her because of who she is, or just because she can also get a huge pair of knockers and badonk to boot?

...Yes

She smiled at the symbiote's comment and lightly waved at May as she closed the door behind her. Hailey turned to the bed and immediately collapsed onto it face first. As she lay there with her face buried in the pillow, the symbiote shifted into sleepwear around her, and tendrils reached out, grabbing the blanket and pulling it over her.

Speaking of MegaGal...

Hailey turned her head to look in the direction that the symbiote was indicating, and saw MegaGal's huge face right outside the window. She had a big smile on, and as soon as Hailey turned her head towards her, she waved a few fingers into frame. Hailey snorted air out through her nose with a smile and limply waved an arm at her before closing her eyes. It didn't take long for sleep to overcome her.

She would need it for the days ahead.

TO BE CONTINUED