

“Are you sure about this captain? It seems like a waste to sell her off. She’d be a great... uh comfort.”

“Yeah, remember that time that the engine was given us trouble and we were lost out in the nexus? Having a cumslut like her around would have been great.” Another one of the pirates said as the shuttle continued its descent.

The captain was seated in the passenger compartment with the two pirates who had spoken. He wasn’t listening too much, mainly because Tala’s mouth was nestled around his cock. She had nearly made it all the way down to the planet without needing to feed her hunger. But when they were still about ten minutes away, she had started rubbing the captain’s body and front of his pants before begging him to let her enjoy one more blast of his cum into her stomach.

The captain had given in, but it seemed like now it was a mistake. As his men watched the horny dark-haired woman lavishing attention on his dick, their minds were filled with the thoughts and sensations that only came from having fucked a beautiful cocks slut like Tala. While he couldn’t blame them for their jealousy, he needed to keep them in check, both right now, and when they went out on raids. Pushing through the warm wet pleasure of Tala’s throat around his cock, the alien captain cleared his throat before replying. As he spoke, both captain and crew continued hearing wet ‘gluck gluck’ sounds coming from Tala as she sucked on his knob like there was no tomorrow.

“Use your heads, lads. Sure, she’s good to fuck and to suckle on your cock, but she’s an extra mouth to feed.” Some of the pirates around him chuckled when he said the last bit. Letting out a sigh, the skilled captain tried to bring their minds out of the gutter.

“We need to store enough provisions for ourselves while we raid and capture ships. More provisions for this whore means that there will be less room for booty and hostages.” The captain let out a sudden groan as his balls throbbed with warmth. Somehow, the sensation of her tongue and lips feasting on his cock had become even more intense.

“You... niaah... you know what that means right?” Tala vaguely heard the humanoid captain asking his fellow pirates. The young woman’s eyes caught sight of the captain’s blaster close at hand, but for some reason, her mind couldn’t focus on it. Instead, every thought in her mind was focused on tasting more of his cock and milking out his delicious seed. Behind the half-naked prisoner, she heard one of the pirates offer up an answer.

“Well, if we take on less booty because of her, that means... we get less credits when we sell...” The big brute of a rodian declared clumsily.

The pirate captain nodded before he let out a withering growl. His head leaned up and he bared his teeth before he started to cum. Tala’s eyes opened as the first scrumptious spray of thick hot jizz poured into her mouth. The human girl started greedily sucking the captain’s offering into her throat so it could get to her stomach. She opened her lips and spread out her tongue to touch his cockhead. After that, the lewd young girl licked all around his peak before dipping her tongue into his slit to hopefully pick up that last bit of his essence.

“Wrrmmm...” The captain said before he ended up having to nudge Tala’s body away from his legs. He had fucked her in the morning before they took the shuttle out from their ship. Now after having her suck him off again, his flesh was very sensitive. If he kept her close, the experienced raider was unsure he wouldn’t just pull her onto his lap and fuck her all over again, and right now he needed to look at least mildly presentable. As he looked down at her, he saw that she was at least helping with that regard as she swiped her tongue all over her lips to collect the cum that had landed on her face. When she was done, the cute little slut even opened her mouth as if to show him her handiwork.

“I’m going to miss you, slut.”

“I’m not a slut... I just... I was just bored on this ride.” Tala said before she moved and sat down in the chair next to the captain. She looked out a small window onto the planet. By the pirates’ own laziness and a bit of skill, she had found out that the planet was called Caid. Based on what she remembered, it was a world on the outer edge of the Mid Rim. That put it not quite among the lawless realms of the Outer Rim, but Caid was definitely a far cry from the civilization of the Core Worlds.

“You know I can pay you more than what you’ll get on a rock like this.”

When the captain didn’t say anything in response, Tala tried to sweeten the deal. “I’ll even let you guys keep fucking me until the transfer clears. Trust me, I’m good for the creds.”

“Enough. This isn’t a negotiation. And even if it was, the value we’ll get from selling you here is worth more than a cart of credits.” The captain didn’t say any more after that, and soon a voice came over the speaker system to let them know that they would be landing soon. Tala looked at the humanoid angrily before resigning herself to her fate. In the worst case, her chances of escape would improve once she was on a planet. In space, there was nowhere to escape, on a planet, her options expanded quite significantly.

---xx-----xxx-----xx-----

After they got off the ship, things went pretty fast. The young woman watched as the captain gave a steward for the landing pad some credits and then the group rented a speeder and loaded her up into it. Anyone who looked in her direction generally also looked over the heavily armed pirates all around her and then found something else to look at. Realizing quickly that she wasn’t likely to get any help from these ball-less denizens, Tala started taking notes that might help her in an escape. There were several small one-pilot ships in the landing bays that made up the area where they had landed. Tala’s golden-brown eyes noted that some were more guarded than others. All she really needed was a weapon and maybe some armor and she could get herself a ship.

The main road going out from the spaceport passed along a bazaar that was bracketed by a larger office and warehouse buildings. As she observed the marketplace, Tala knew that it would be an excellent place to hide out. There were species from over a hundred worlds milling about, and it was very chaotic and ill-managed, her favorite sort of place. Even better, she saw about three different vendors that had weaponry. The young woman with brown hair and golden-oak colored eyes knew that those shops would probably be pretty secure, but all she needed was one of them to be distracted and she might get her ticket out of this mess. Just as they were about to finish traveling alongside the bazaar, her spirits rose when she saw the unmistakable sight of a T-shape visored helmet. For a second, she thought it was her friend, but as they left the area, Tala realized that the helmet and the person's armor were not the same make and body type of her friend. She slumped back down into the rear seat as the speeder continued making progress for their destination.

Soon the speeder stopped after about five more minutes of travel. The establishment closest to them appeared to be a decent looking bar, though the patrons outside of it looked anything but. The pirates dragged her out and the captain wheeled on her and grabbed her chin.

"Don't do anything stupid if you want to keep breathing." He threatened her before pushing her chin off to the side and continuing along. They went into the bar and many of the patrons turned to look at the new arrival. They looked similar to the pirates, rough and unwashed individuals, each with their own blades and blasters. Seeing them didn't worry her, she was used to being around people with heavy armaments. The group of pirates was led out of the bar by a lovely looking waitress. Tala heard the captain exchanging pleasantries with her and the young girl courteously replied.

When she looked at the girl, she saw that she was wearing little more than a tube top and short-cut pants. She was very cute and watching her from behind started to kindle some new notes of lust within her pussy. Her legs remained strong enough to move and she followed the captain and the other pirates out into the bar's kitchen. They passed some serving droids and chefs and then went out of the back door. They walked down a hallway and then took a right into a more open space. A door was set at the back of the area, and this one was guarded by four dangerous looking fellows.

One, a dark-skinned zabrak had the pirates stop and put their weapons into a cache on the right side of the door. Once that was done, the pirates nudged her along into the door when it opened. Inside the new room, Tala found herself in a bit of a throne room with a young alien male looking over a holotable set just to the side of a sleek and sharp looking throne.

"Good to see you Braydor. I have something new for you." The pirate captain said with a little bit of a bow and a flourish of his hand.

The man who was apparently named Braydor turned his gaze from the holotable and settled it on Tala and the pirates. "Not interested."

"You'll want this one. And for only eight-thousand credits, she is a steal!" The captain said as he moved up behind the young brunette. He grabbed her head and nudged her forward.

"Why? I already have plenty of other whores."

"She's special. Well, special in a slutty way. I've never met a girl who is more of a cumbucket than this one." The pirate said before also tugging up her shirt and pulling down her pants to reveal the young girl's physical assets to the prospective buyer. "I guarantee you that you'll recoup your payment within a week, absolutely." The captain said before running his hands down her naked hips and giving her right asscheek a little squeeze.

Tala for her part didn't say anything, not because of the captain's warning, but more because she thought that whoever Braydor was, if he bought her, she would be on a planet and have a much better chance of escape than with the pirates, though she would miss more than a couple of the cocks she'd found in the gang of thieves.

"I'll take her." Braydor said before snapping at one of his attendants who came forward with a slave collar. "But if you're wrong," The man who was buying her warned. "I'm going to cut twenty percent off your next haul.

"And when you see I'm right, I want a thirty percent bonus." The captain replied, clearly confident that Tala was going to prove her worth to Braydor.

"Hah, you're brave scum, I'll give you that. Deal." With that, the pirate captain and his crew gave her one last look before they made their exit. Braydor moved over to her and ran his fingers along her neck before inching his hand down to her breasts.

"They're a little small, but we can always change that if we want." The captain gestured to one of the attendants nearby. "Go get her cleaned up," Braydor said before Tala was dragged out of the throne room.

Tala was taken to a simplistic bathing chamber. The state of the room and the technology that ran it didn't even look as good as the system on the pirate ship. Unfortunately, by that moment, she was losing her fight against her body's increased sexual drive. After she had just started getting washed by a girl, Tala ended up walking away and found a guard outside the room. Immediately, the naked girl with long brown hair bent down and worked to get his cock free.

"Are you mad?"

"I... I don't know what's wrong... but I need your cock." Tala said before she let out a sigh of victory as she freed the man's juicy length. She immediately started licking on his dick. When he started to get hard, she pushed up his meat, so it ran along the height of his body and gave her access to his balls. In the corridor of the run-down looking establishment, Tala's golden-brown eyes filled with lust while they watched the guard. He had what she needed, and she wasn't stopping until she got it. Fortunately, the guard's groans gave some direct evidence of his enjoyment and helped make her pussy wet and ready to receive. Once his cock was throbbing and she felt he was hard as needed, Tala rose up from her knees and presented her still wet ass from when the girl had been washing her body.

The guard had no problem checking out his boss' new merchandise. He still had a blaster pistol on his side and a rifle along his back, so he knew if she gave him any trouble, he'd be alright. Moving in behind the slutty human girl, the guard slapped his hand down onto her ass. The strike made her bounce slightly while the guard pressed forward and pushed his crown against her warm moist lips.

"Awaaaahhh.. fuck... I could get used to this." Tala squealed as the large cock burst past her lips and into the sensitive embrace of her pussy. The guard was definitely not as rough as the pirates, but his size would have fit in among the larger members that had used her on the ship. As his cock drilled along every sweet inch of her sensitive skin, it became a struggle to fight off the fiery pleasure filling her body. Her naked breasts swayed as he started picking up speed with his thrusts. Tala relaxed her arms a bit, letting her body fall closer to the wall and making it so that her nipples and just the edge of her breasts would drag against the wall during any particularly powerful thrusts.

"Use me more... I'll... I don't know what will happen if I don't feel your cum swimming in my sex..." Tala cried out as she enjoyed the thrill of each pump and each spank that the guard gave her ass.

"You're a whiny bitch I'll give you that." The guard grunted both from the pressure around his cock and the friction building up each time his ballsack smacked against the moaning girl's soaked cunny lips. "I'll give you whatever I want. But you better keep this between us."

With that, Tala noticed the guard's tempo and power changing. Each time that his cock drove inside of her most intimate depths, more wind was shoved forth from her lungs due to the great force behind his motions. His tempo meanwhile was picking up speed, causing her mind to be assaulted by a barrage of jolts that made her nipples tingle while her mind begged for more.

"I love it... I'm just your little cock slut. This is all I ever need. Mrwaa.... Awahhhh!" Tala shrieked out, waves of deliriousness spilling into the cauldron of wild pleasure boiling within her body. She felt so good, and the cock driving into her depths felt even better. But something was missing, and Tala couldn't help but want it with all the focus that remained to her. Her body moved by reaction more than anything and started rolling her hips back. The process started having her ass meet the man's cock. Tala's eyes widened slightly each time their flesh slammed and rubbed together. It was delicious, but it still wasn't what she needed. So, she started wiggling her body a bit during each thrust.

Now each time his dick pressed inside of her, she was treated to even more sensations as his thickness jugged and pricked at her walls from new angles. Her vaginal lips tightened along his member with every new thrust and soon all of Tala's pink lewd flesh was centered on tugging the man even deeper inside of her hole. The young woman could feel her orgasm cumming as she bucked her hips back to get filled again and again.

"Ouwaaaihhh... by the stars, your cock is melting me! Don't stop... I'm... cum.... Cumming!!!" Tala screamed out before the switch was slammed down within her body. The moment after the intimate change occurred, she just remained in position, but the moment after, all hell broke loose. Like a wild reek, the naked girl bucked and spasmed while the man held her hips and her ass. Her tits heaved and her pussy gushed out her liquid warmth while her pussy locked tightly around the man's cock. To his credit, as tight as Tala had become, he was still able to drag his cock back and hump her one more time before his balls churned and his prick jabbed even deeper into Tala's gasping cunt.

The moment her the cavern of her flesh felt his load, Tala finally felt a slight respite even as she continued cumming with his cock inside of her. No matter how hard and fast he had fucked her, it was only his seed that really seemed to work on her lust. She whined and squealed like a stuffed pig as his warm and thick jizzum spilled out nice and deep inside of her pussy. There was nothing quite like the sensation and Tala made sure to keep her lips tight as her body continue milking his throbbing meat.

When they were both done cumming and Tifa was able to breathe normally again, she pulled her body forward before turning around and sucking the man dry. She wasn't about to waste any cum.

"Looks like the pirates were right about you..." The guard said with a chuckle as Tala smiled at him with a mouthful of his jizz before she swallowed it down. Pretty as that sight was, the guard saw that the horny woman was covered in sweat and her pussy had notable signs of his cock and his cream filling. The guard opened the door back into the refresher.

"Go get yourself cleaning up. And remember, this is between us."

"Of course. But that doesn't mean we can't go another round sometime..." Tala said with a smile, her mind returning towards what amounted to normal for her. She rubbed her nipples and smiled at the guard before she went back into the room to attempt to get clean once again.