

An Unpayable Debt

Written by "Ina Izumi"

Stephanie Dola, an 18-year-old princess of Elkia, the former Immanity kingdom (human) and current commonwealth with other races of her world, has been very busy with the tasks of ruling her country even though unfortunately she is not the heir at the time for the throne of said country, since the Sora and Shiro brothers have won it in a betting competition, just after she lost a bet with them and became Sora's girlfriend by force. Although the new kings have brought glory back to Elkia by continuously expanding their domain throughout what is for them a new world to explore, winning in all kinds of games, since those are the rules that the god of that world has imposed for everyone as the only way to resolve any type of conflict including an expansionist campaign, even so Steph is not and will never agree to be forced by the rules of that world to be Sora's girlfriend and also not be able to rule the country that her grandfather ruled before, so from time to time she stops her resignation and tries to gain the control of the country again by playing games with Shiro, losing every time she plays against him since Shiro is very good at playing and is practically invincible in any game, having to accept more and more daring punishments every time she plays against Sora and loses, since Sora does not miss the opportunity to humiliate and play with her and also to dissuade her so that she stops challenging him to play to try to regain control of the Elkia.

This time, Steph, after challenging Sora to play cards again and being on the verge of defeat, is terrified and offended by the punishment she will suffer this time for Sora accepting the challenge again. As always, the game is that if Steph wins, she regains her freedom and dominance over Elkia, but if Sora wins, she will have to spend a month as a mannequin and show off her body in pretty, sassy clothes that she wouldn't wear in other circumstances or even appear completely naked in a window. She still cannot believe that this will be her punishment, but if she loses, she will not be able to do anything to avoid it, since those rules imposed in the Disboard, the world they live in, force the person who loses the game to abide by practically magically anything they have asked for in case this person loses the game, so when he loses, Steph's body will probably automatically become a mannequin for a month without her being able to move or do anything else, more to be pretty and cute while wearing nice clothes and her curvaceous body in a window in front of the eyes of all the people who pass by.

On the one hand, thinking about that angers Steph strongly, but on the other hand, something inside her gets excited at the thought and she can't help but blush thinking about what people will say and how long she will have to be showing her naked body every day. She is not an exhibitionist and would not like to walk around naked in the street, although she has been in that situation on other occasions which has caused her mind to deteriorate ever since and has become, deep down and with resignation, a little perverted by all these circumstances, even though her rationality tries to escape or try by all possible means not to access those perverted thoughts, hitting her head against the wall or the floor constantly over and over again, even without much success. It certainly could be worse for Steph since Sora lets Steph participate in ruling Elkia and only has to unintentionally love Sora, but if she had lost again to anyone else who was trying to win the kingdom through games, she would have ended up as a slave or something similar. Also, the fact that she is forced to do more and more perverted and demeaning things as punishment in a certain part is her fault for trying to gain dominance over Elkia from time to time instead of resigning herself, even if it's clear that she didn't stand a chance to beat Sora or Shiro, or even Sora separately.

In the end after so many mixed feelings, Steph finally lost the game. Suddenly she began to feel that her body trembled, and Steph began to smile inevitably, then a strange crackling sounded around and throughout her entire body that was continuously immobilizing her body from head to toe and making her skin more tense as that strange thing advanced. An exciting and warm arousal quickly invaded her entire body. In the end everything was ready, and Sora just undressed her and changed her pose to a more correct one for her new way of existing as a mannequin, arriving shortly after two employees from that wedding dress store where she will be sent and taking her with them

Later, Steph, who was a bit distracted by the warmth of the transformation and excitement that she feels in her body, she finally regains consciousness more clearly and begins to perceive his surroundings. Steph cannot believe that the rules of that world are so powerful that when she lost the bet she was turned into a simple mannequin, now she will have to wait a whole month turned into an object, even though she wonders why she still has her mind despite what happened. Meanwhile, the employees of that store dress her and fondle her breasts a little, being impressed by the realism of that new mannequin that has recently arrived at the store, thinking that perhaps they should put the best available dress on her so that she can show off her beauty in clearer and more striking way and that serves to attract customers.

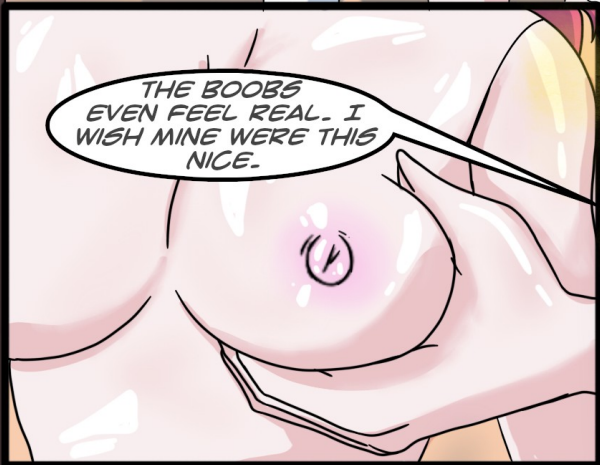

WOW, LOOK AT THIS MANNEQUIN, IT'S SO LIFELIKE.

STOP TOUCHING ME! I'M NOT MERCHANDISE TO BE INSPECTED!

THAT DRESS IS GOING TO LOOK GORGEOUS ON IT.

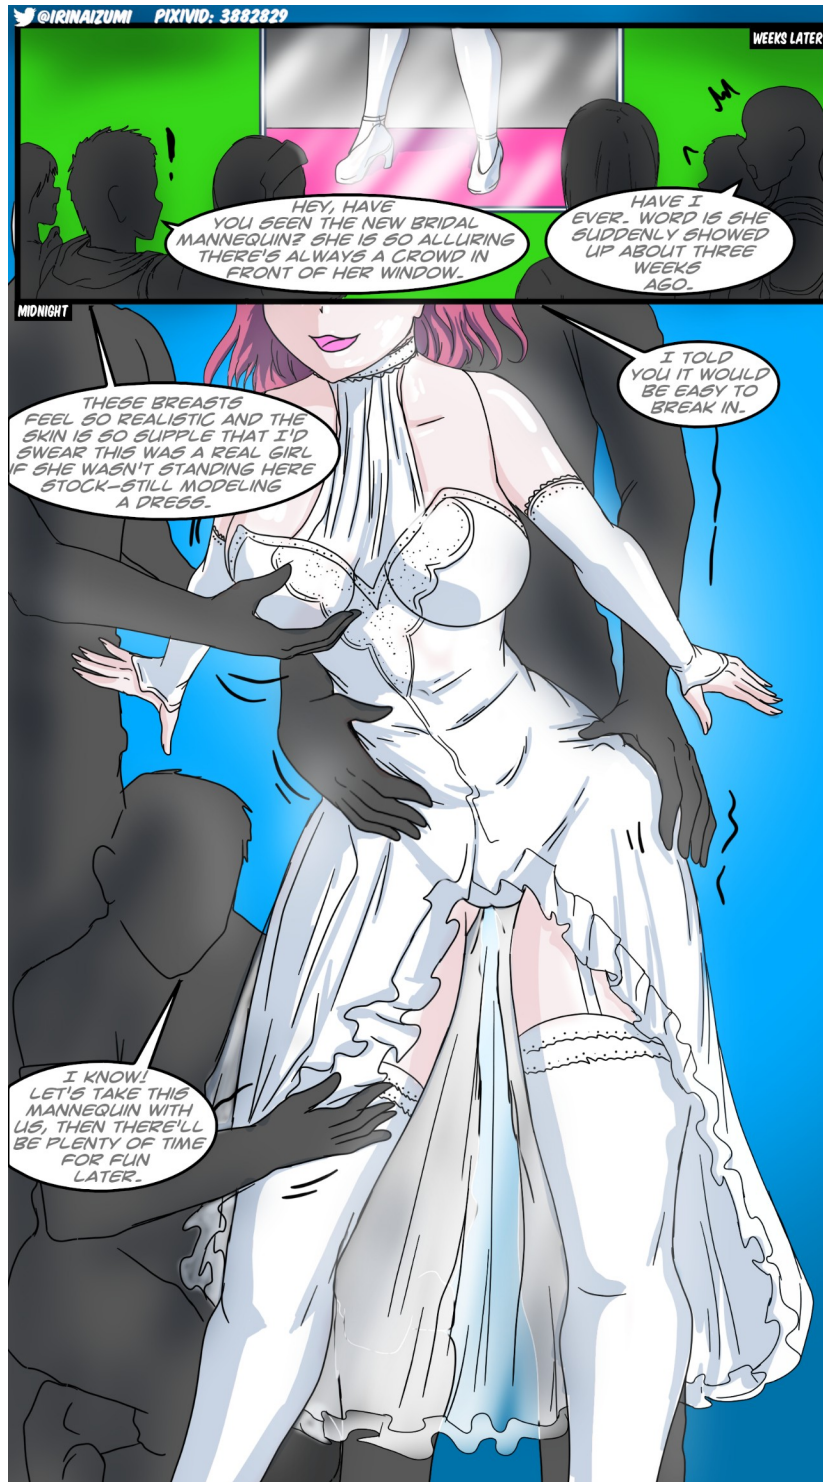

THE BOOBS EVEN FEEL REAL. I WISH MINE WERE THIS NICE.

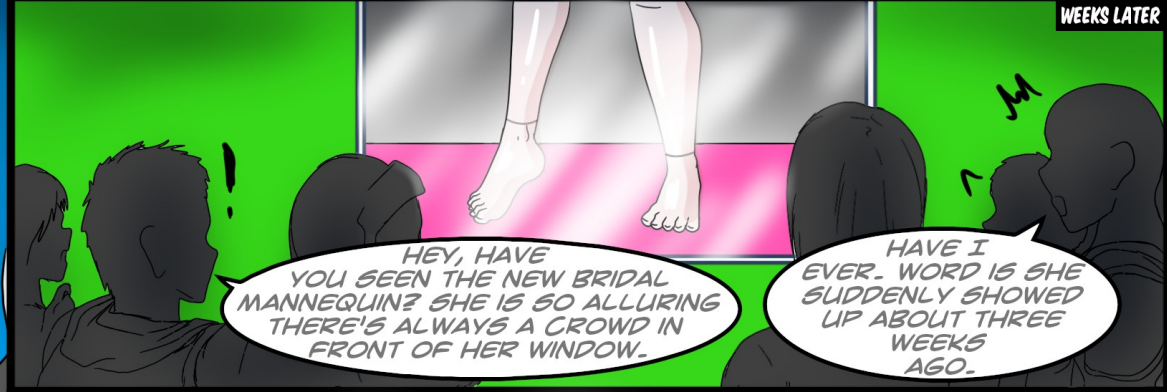

Steph was highly aroused, perhaps not so voluntarily, and her mind was slowly beginning to cloud after she regained consciousness, perhaps letting herself be carried away by pleasure and excitement and by the magic that forces her to remain as manikin. She yet she still perceives how she, after being dressed, is carried somewhere by some employee while she is carried from her torso. After that, she hears a door open and shortly after being arranged as a mannequin in the most convenient pose, the light from outside blinds her briefly and, with it, she realizes that she has finally ended up as a mannequin showing off her body and her new wedding dress on a window display in front of all the people, making her feel a little nervous, but not by much since she would forget her nervousness as her mind gets more and more lost in pleasure and magic.

Weeks later, just two days before the terms of the agreement on her defeat expire, Steph is deep in ecstasy as she only hears in her mind with her own voice endless mantras in which she has always been a mannequin apparently, not she can sense how much she is loved by people passing by the store when they see her body, but because of the realism of her body as a mannequin she has become an attraction in the store. One night it seems that three individuals willing to take the mannequin and make it her sex toy have been able to infiltrate the wedding dress store.

HEY, HAVE YOU SEEN THE NEW BRIDAL MANNEQUIN? SHE IS SO ALLURING THERE'S ALWAYS A CROWD IN FRONT OF HER WINDOW.

HAVE I EVER. WORD IS SHE SUDDENLY SHOWED UP ABOUT THREE WEEKS AGO.

MIDNIGHT

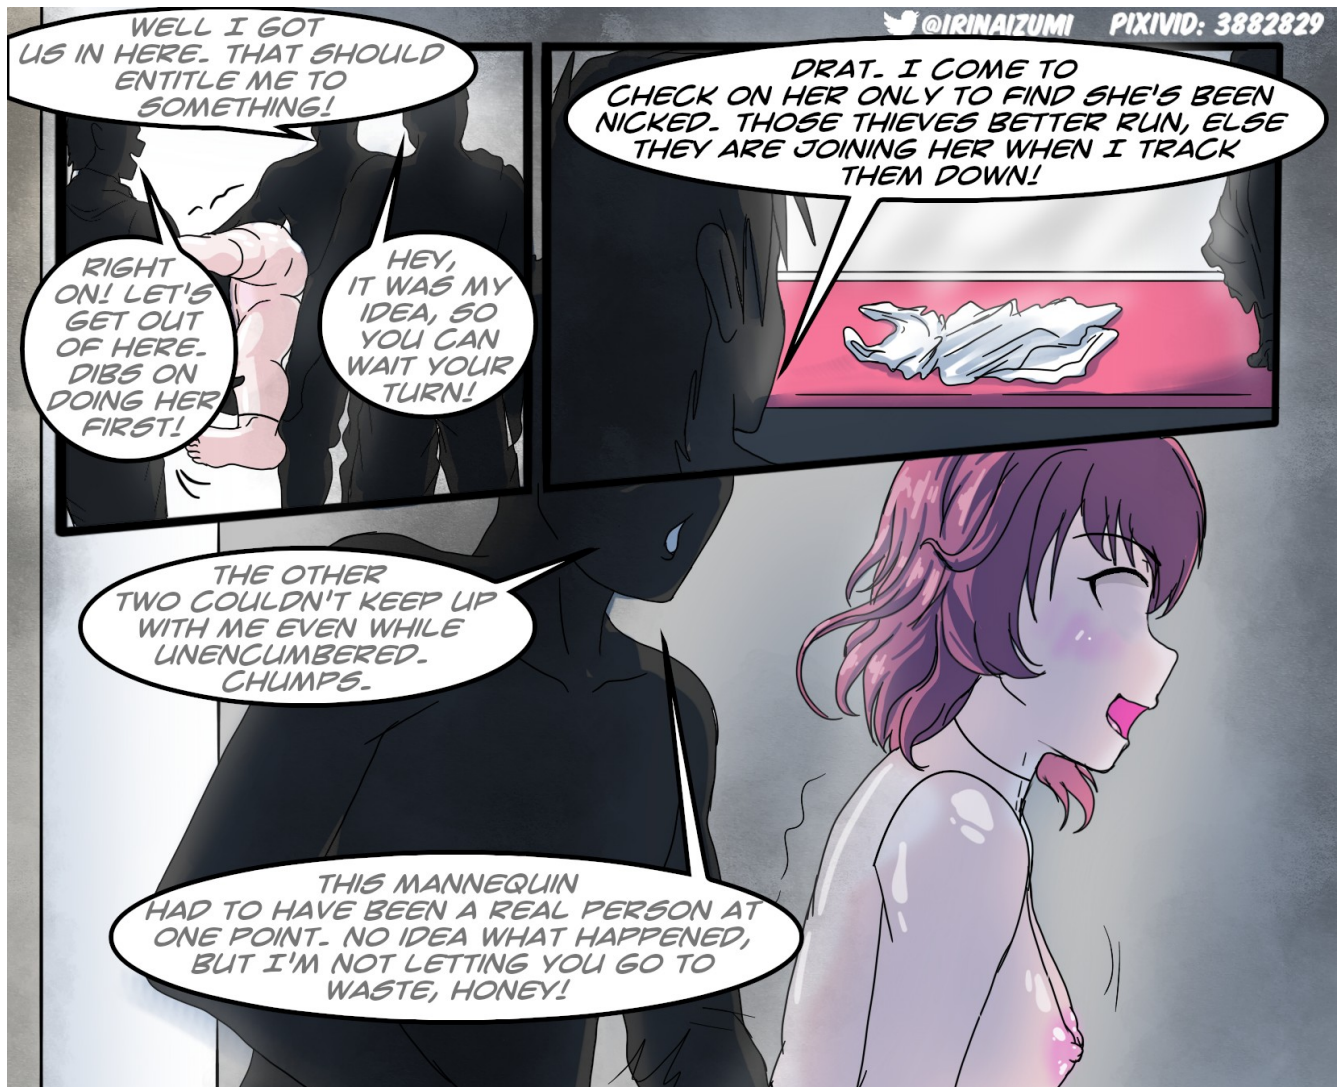

THESE BREASTS FEEL SO REALISTIC AND THE SKIN IS SO SUPPLE THAT I'D SWEAR THIS WAS A REAL GIRL IF SHE WASN'T STANDING HERE STOCK-STILL MODELING A DRESS.

I TOLD YOU IT WOULD BE EASY TO BREAK IN.

I KNOW! LET'S TAKE THIS MANNEQUIN WITH US, THEN THERE'LL BE PLENTY OF TIME FOR FUN LATER.

Finally, they run away from the place with the mannequin and start arguing still being close to the store about who should have fun with the mannequin first, at first they just seemed like innocent discussions, until they started attacking each other, as if that mannequin was cursed and they were they doomed to fall from grace in some way, having totally lost control of their sexual urges. Finally, one of them ended up as the winner of that dispute, taking the mannequin and fleeing, leaving his two companions unconscious. Soon Sora arrived at the store to see how everything was going in Steph's new life as a mannequin, aware that in two days Steph will be a person again, but the only thing he discovered is that she was gone, Sora now wondering who will have stolen the mannequin.

(bad ending)

Two days later it seems that the sunlight seems to enter the alley, it seems that the guy who took the mannequin before fled for some reason after having played so much and so hard with the mannequin that he ended up disarmed in several pieces. For some reason, since the body of the mannequin was disassembled into pieces even though the remaining two days of the spell have passed, she did not return to normal, perhaps this being the reason why that man abandoned the mannequin, seeing it as something useless that already has served its purpose, will Steph have to be found and reassembled as a dummy to return to normal? Or, how much longer will it have to go on like this? There's no way to know.

