

So.. you saw me with the innkeeper earlier and got jealous..?

And then sent me away because you're afraid of getting too close??

Yep.. That's the gist of it..

When he put it that way, I sound fucking crazy.

I realized I have feelings for you and I had to push you away..

I know how unreasonable I sounded, okay?

You're not being unreasonable..

..?

I did the same thing to you, remember?

I pushed you away because I was scared, too..

I thought we were too different to make it work..

But judging from the way we both acted..

I think the feelings are mutual..

My God, I feel like an idiot.

Haha

Then I guess we're both idiots, aren't we?

I guess so..

How can someone who can get me so wound up

Be able to unravel me just as quick?

How can two people be so different yet so alike at the same time?

We spent the night talking about our pasts and making promises for the future.

And before we knew it

Our hearts synced up

Our breaths evened

and we both drifted off to sleep as one.

And that was how we spent our last night of the trip.

You promise to write me everyday?

Yes, sir.

And you promise to never lay with other people?

You got it!

Any other concerns?

That's all.. at the moment.

Okay!

We've decided to take things slow

But we can't deny our feelings towards each other.

Especially considering how immediate and intense they were despite the short meeting..

I'm a General, but the Queen only gave me the title because I had no more purposes after the war.

It was either staying at the palace with her and train the new soldiers..

Or be forced into an arranged marriage with another noble..

WHAT?! YOU GOT MARRIED?!

Haha, yeah.. But I declined, of course..
