

engines

This is what a diagnostic tablet looks like, The end result of the combination is that it is a bit bigger and the screen is more detailed.

This is what I used for inspiration for the gas station. Ema was tucked up against the corner closest to us with your standard security camera.

This is what the big beefie Blue truck looks like. All the bells and whistles.

This is my main inspiration for the final look. Imagine this studebaker mixed heavily with the blue truck above. Slightly flatter grill, more modern looking all around with the transferred bells and whistles. The ground clearance is the average between the two.