

A poem needs no meter
It doesn't need to rhyme
It's all about expression
And I find that sublime

But if there is no structure
No rules, anything goes
What separates a poem
From good ol' fashioned prose?

So I default to couplets
They're simple and they're fun
And after three full stanzas
I can say I'm done.