

First Tests

Written by "Ina Izumi"

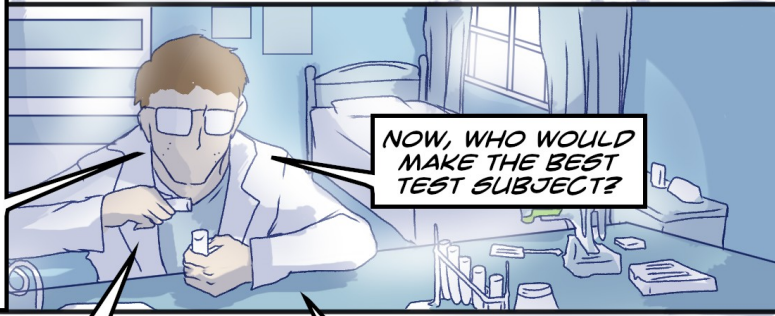

John is a young adult in his late twenties of college, not usually that age to get out of college, but John has a privileged intellect, he was born gifted, so he fast-forwarded several years and got out of college quite a bit. young. However, to John's disadvantage, even if he has a privileged mind and has won several awards and, perhaps, if he wanted, he could use his knowledge to live alone, at ease, in freedom and without anyone bothering him, He has gotten too used to the comforts that living with his mother gives him, who prepares his food, washes his clothes and cleans the house, even though in return John has to suffer all kinds of arbitrariness, such as not being able to play video games at midnight or not being able to show certain tastes of him in public without his mother getting angry, like his love for manga

It is on those cool spring days that John has decided to finish one of his most ambitious creations. John was working on a nanobot-based gel that could change the material of things around it by adding or removing molecules from its composition, to all material that was touched by that gel, shot with a special gun (which looked like a water gun) which had the instructions loaded so that the gel is fired with the proper pre-settings to achieve the desired effects. This new and ambitious invention of his rivals with other substances that have been on the market for years, especially with that fuchsia liquid that puts people in a state of hibernation while making their skin from a material similar to resin, the rubber or plastic, so the first thing John came up with to test his new invention was to use it to turn his first test subjects into sex dolls. In the case that John manages to test his experiment successfully, this invention could be an alternative to the popular fuchsia liquid and make him very, very rich, and a renowned scientist in the future, enough to have a long scientific career and a comfortable and luxurious life

John has to choose who will be his first test subject. On one hand there is his ex-girlfriend, Jessie, a blonde who is angry with him since he asked her to cosplay in her room and, above all, when they had sex, all this constantly. At that time Jessie got tired and left him, telling everyone what she lived with him to subject him to public humiliation, especially at school. However, John has endured all those abuses and always tried to approach her to offer her be together again, although what he gets most of the time is a strong slap in the face in public and new threats that, if John does not stop harassing her, she will go to the police to lift a restraining order against him.

On the other hand, the second option is Jane, his strict insufferable mother, who has been nothing but a hindrance in recent years for John (at least from his perspective). She was always so strict with him, especially after John's father left for cigarettes and never came back, that it seems that she hates him, especially since John has inherited a strong physical resemblance to his father. However, John was undecided about who should be the first victim, although one thing was very certain, and that is that both would be the first test subjects of his experiment, only that John was undecided about who to test his invention first. Since it will be the first time, and since John is confident that his experiment will go as planned, with the prototype water gun loaded with said liquid, he believes that the first time is something important and even symbolic. However, John's doubts would be cleared up when he saw her mother enter her room and throw all her anime figures into a trash can that she was carrying. That's when John decided that she would be the first test subject.

AT LAST! FINALLY I HAVE COMPLETED MY FUSCHIA ALTERNATIVE. THIS NANOMACHINE-INFUSED GEL WILL TRANSFORM WHOEVER IT IS APPLIED TO INTO A SEX DOLL. WITH HOW MUCH THAT OTHER STUFF SELLS FOR, SURELY FAME AND FORTUNE WILL SOON FOLLOW AND I CAN FINALLY MOVE OUT!

NOW, WHO WOULD MAKE THE BEST TEST SUBJECT?

FOR ONE, WE HAVE MY ICE QUEEN OF AN EX, WHO HAD THE AUDACITY TO SLAP ME WITH A RESTRAINING ORDER AFTER SHE SLAPPED ME FOR REAL!

OR, THE MOTHER UNIT. YES... SHE STILL OWES ME FOR THE FIGURES SHE THREW OUT. HOW POETIC THAT SHE TAKE THEIR PLACE!

John took the water pistol and pointed it at his mother without hesitation. Jane, John's mother, surprised, asked him what he was supposed to be doing, or if it was a joke. John then pulled the trigger and that strange cold gel, which seems to have the texture of a slime from magic and adventure games, covered Jane's entire body, quickly disintegrating her clothes. Jane fell to the floor screaming at John asking what that strange gel was and what it is doing to her, since it feels very warm, while Jane's pose begins to line up on the floor with her legs spread and her arms outstretched. Then John stated that by throwing away her anime figures, she would have to replace them with her own body, which seemed like a fair deal to him. Also, in the end, it's all about science.

Jane, couldn't believe what has just happened, she is finally silent, motionless, her skin glowing and radiant, staring into infinity. John sees that the experiment has been a complete success, so he decides to go after his second target before more time passes, Jessie.

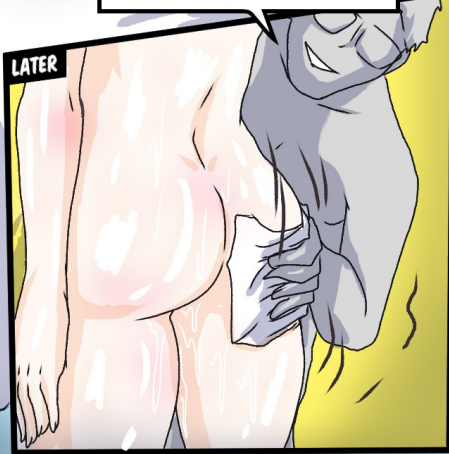

However, when John sees his mother lying on the floor, turned into a sex doll, he can't avoid the instinct for revenge, plus someone has to somehow prove that the doll is functional in every way, right? Then John dropped his pants and without wasting any more time he grabbed his mother by the hip and lifted her up. John wonders deep down if her mother is still conscious, although it is not something that really matters to him, since her mother is conscious or not now she is just a sex doll for him and for anyone who sees her. .

On the other hand, as John picks up Jane from the waist, he realizes that she has lost a lot of her weight and has become quite light. John gently slides his hands along the curves of his new sex doll, pulls down his pants, and begins to penetrate her over and over from behind, harder and harder, mercilessly, until John gets tired and throw her to the floor Apparently the experiment works so well that it seems that Jane had never been a human, or rather, it seems that she was born to be a sex doll. Even John is evaluating Jane's quality and realism as a sex doll thought that he could make extra profit from her if he sells her, but he thinks it's best to always keep her as the first test subject in her room. Ultimately, for John, his new sex doll, Jane,

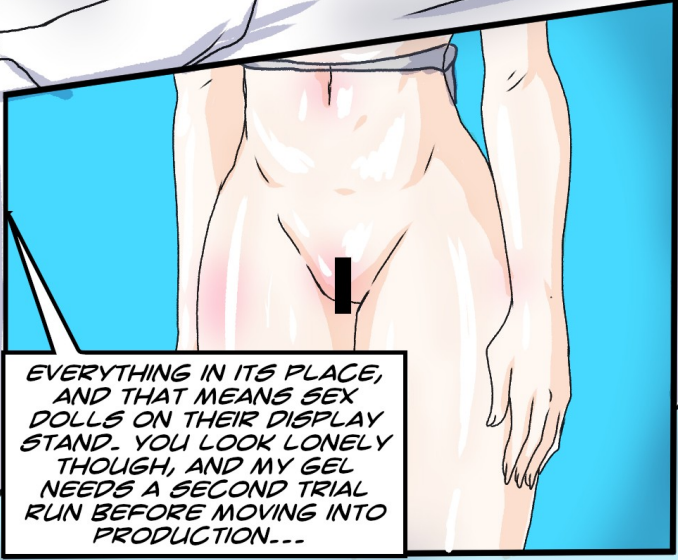

ALL RIGHT, ALL EXTERNAL TESTS SHOWED GOOD RESULTS. NOW FOR THE INTERNAL ONES. I NEVER THOUGHT I WOULD LOSE MY VIRGINITY TO MY OWN MOTHER, BUT SCIENCE WORKS IN MYSTERIOUS WAYS.

THAT WAS A VERY SUCCESSFUL TEST CAMPAIGN. NOW IT'S TIME TO GET YOU CLEANED UP AND PUT AWAY.

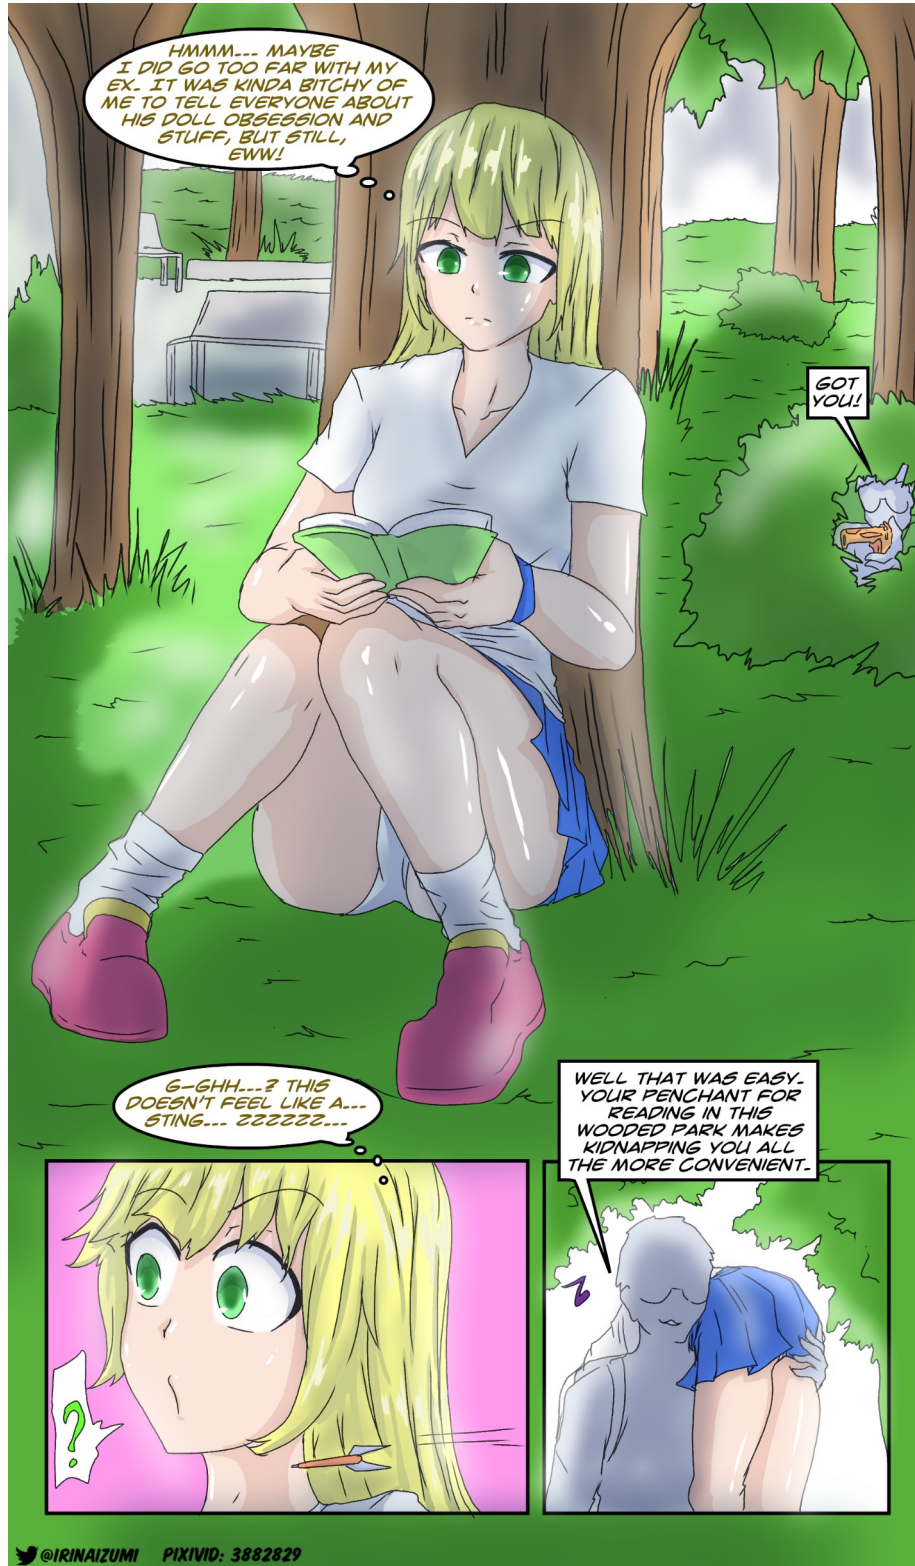

LATER

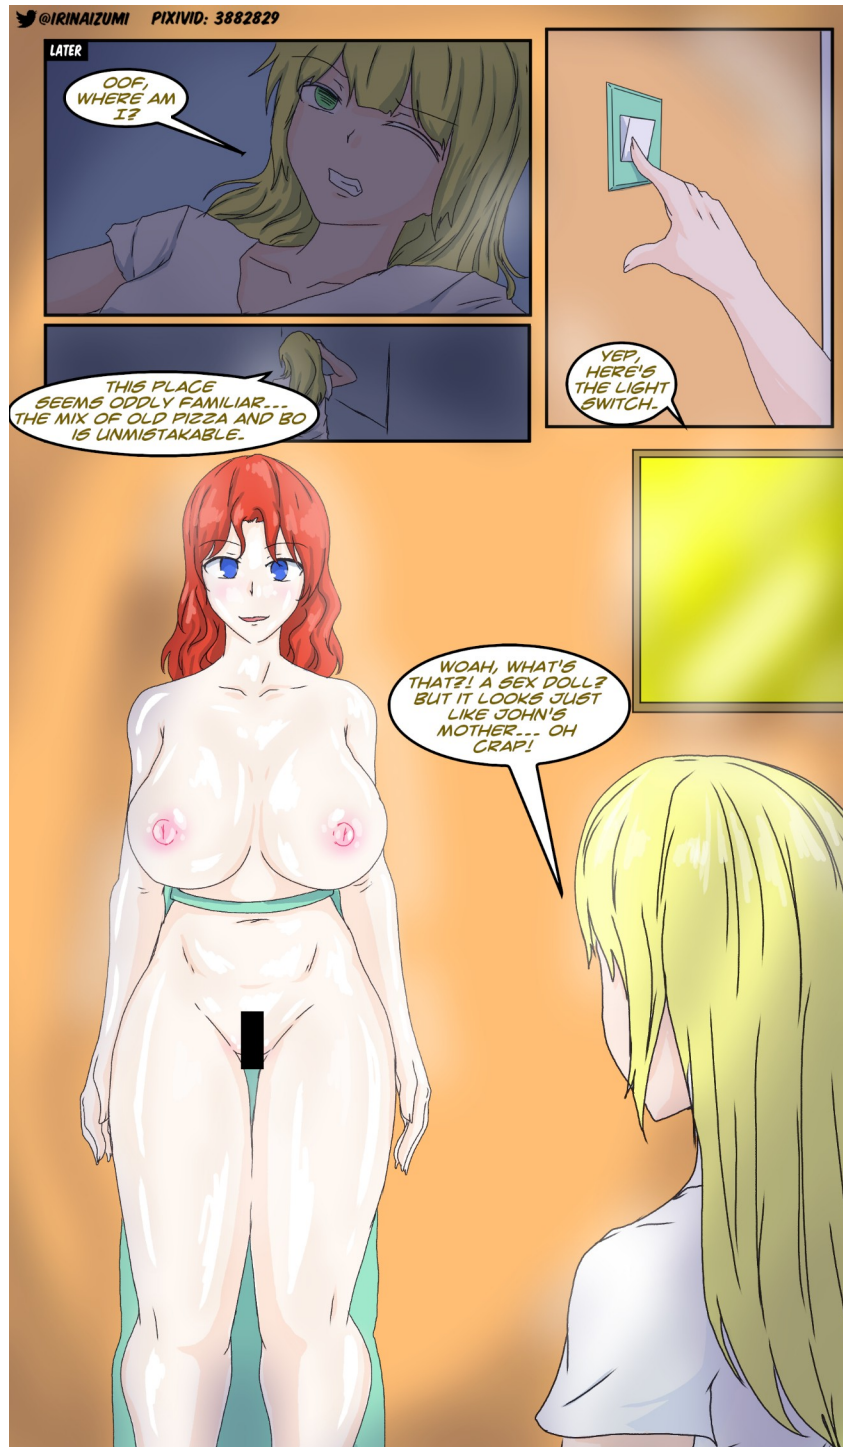

EVERYTHING IN ITS PLACE, AND THAT MEANS SEX DOLLS ON THEIR DISPLAY STAND. YOU LOOK LONELY THOUGH, AND MY GEL NEEDS A SECOND TRIAL RUN BEFORE MOVING INTO PRODUCTION...

John then picks up his new sex doll Jane again to lay her down on the desk and gently wipe her down with water and a cloth, then poses her in a sex doll stand attached to his bedroom wall that he made himself months before. to get everything ready for his experiments. After that John sets out to find his second test subject, his ex-girlfriend Jessie.

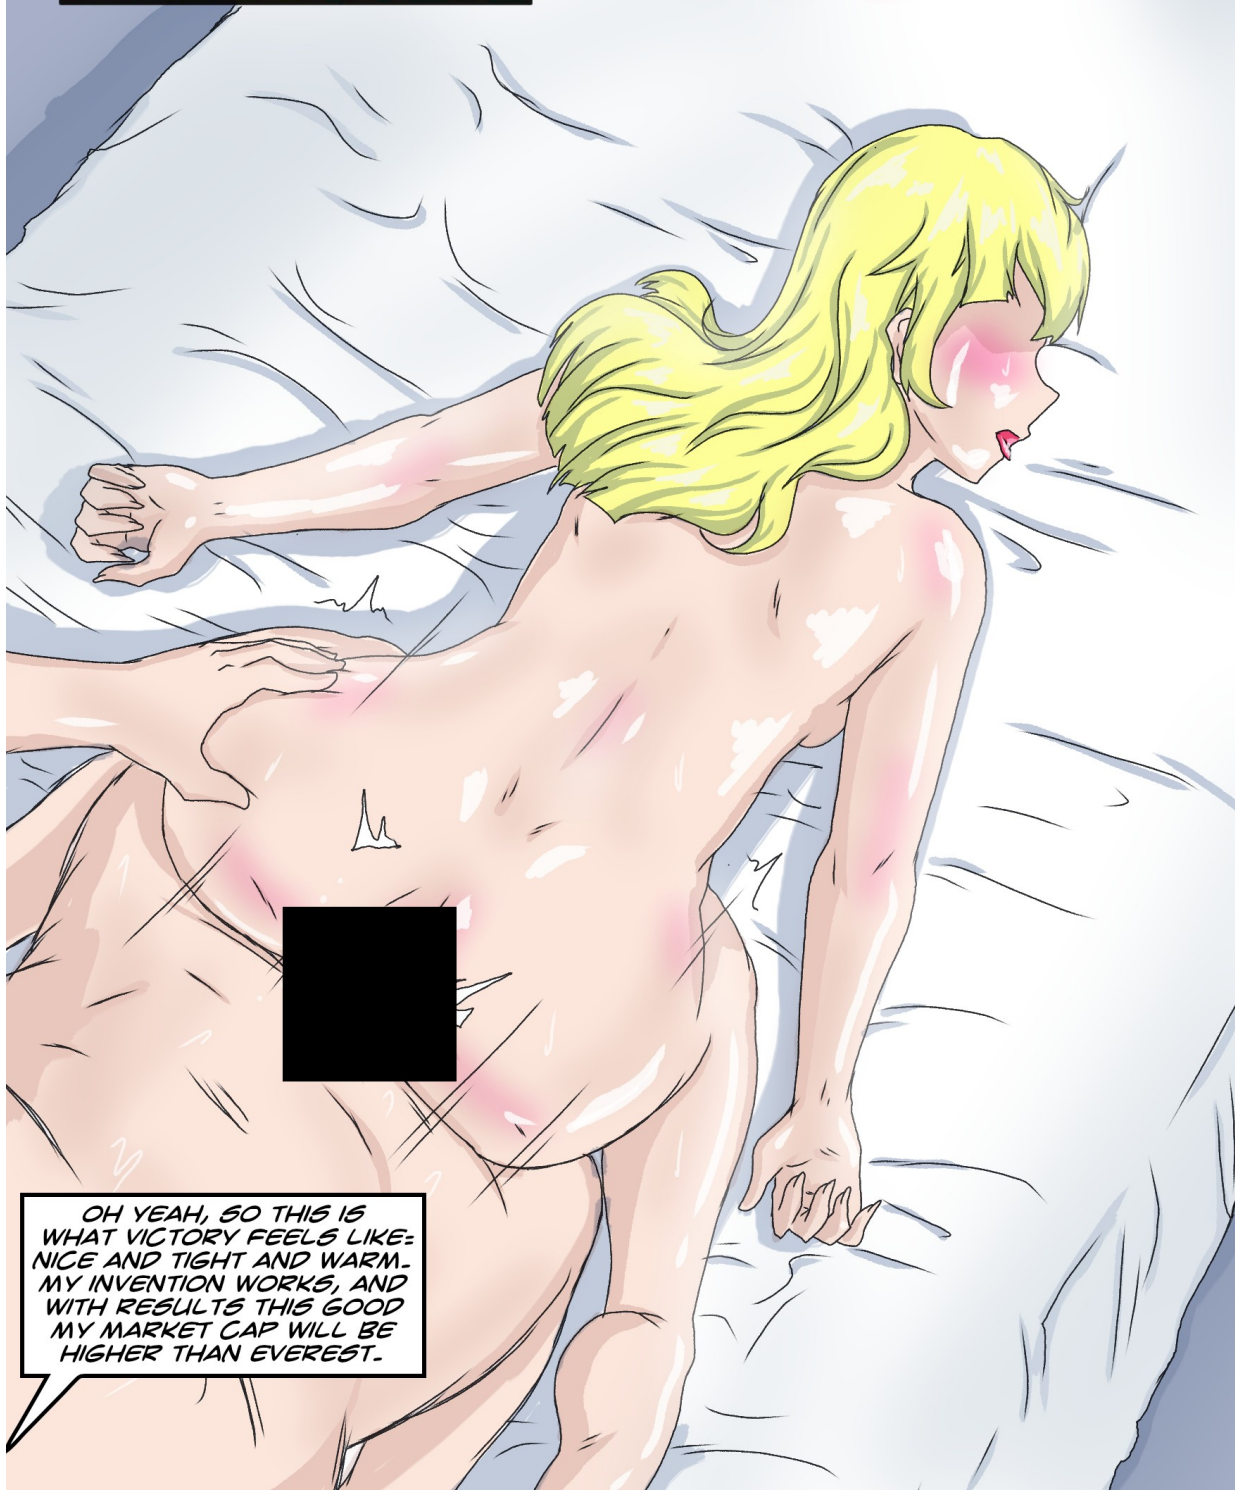

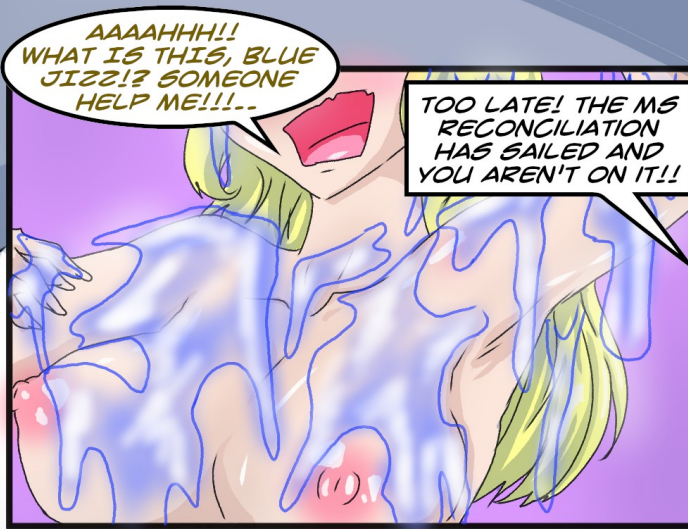

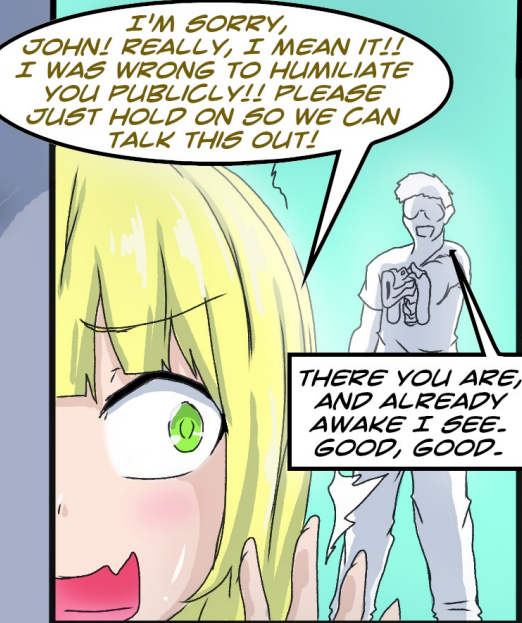

Hours later, across town, Jessie was quietly reading a book under a tree. Precisely Jessie thought about John, she thought that perhaps her behavior was very excessive when she decided to exhibit John with all her acquaintances at school about his strange tastes, and that maybe John needs some professional help from a psychologist or something. Jessie meditated that maybe she had been a bad person, just as she feels something sting her neck. Jessie catches a glimpse of a large animal tranquilizer dart hitting her neck. Jessie, without much time to act, due to the amount of tranquilizer that was in her dart, falls unconscious.

Finally, after several hours, when the effects of the tranquilizer dart wear off and the drug diluted in her blood, Jessie wakes up. She looks like she is in a dark place, but the atmosphere of that place seems somehow familiar. Then Jessie, who luckily for her wasn't tied up or gagged, crawls over to where she thinks the switch is.

When Jessie turns on the light, she realizes something terrible. Suddenly, a life-size sex doll with accentuated curves and large breasts reveals in front of her. Jessie starts circling the doll to look at it carefully, only to realize before long that the doll's face looked familiar. Isn't that doll very similar to Jane, John's mother? After Jessie realized how realistic the doll looked like John's mother, Jessie quickly noticed that she was in John's room, unmistakable by the smell of pizza and dirty socks.

It is that moment when John, alerted by hearing noises in his room, triumphantly enters his room pointing his gel gun at Jessie. Jessie was terrified and shaking next to Jane's sex doll, something John wanted to see, which is why he left her awake and untied. Jessie then apologizes for what happened and begs for mercy, but John doesn't care to hear his insincere apologies now, because if she was truly sorry, Jessie would have apologized a long time ago or even gotten back together with him. Then John fires the powerful transforming gel and Jessie, terrified, falls to the floor in surprise wondering what she did to end up like that.

John has finished his first two experiments with excellent results, but he can't be so sure of the reliability of his invention until he tries the product himself, so he grabs his new sex doll Jessie by the hip and penetrates her intensely, several times for hours frantically until he became totally exhausted. Then when he's done, before he goes to sleep, cleans his new doll as carefully as he did the other one and puts it on the stand next to the Jane sex doll. Tomorrow will be a great day, John thinks.

The next day, a few hours after John woke up, he drinks coffee at a table in his room while he thinks about who to sell to or how to make the most of his invention to get rich, while he admires his new sex dolls, which they also serve a dual purpose, being life-size dolls for cosplay poses to replace the figures Jane threw away

