CARING TIPS & WARNINGS

Plant thyme in spring once chances of frost have passed. Space thyme plants 12 to 24 inches apart in a very sunny area with fertile, well-drained soil with a pH close to 7.0. Before planting in-ground, improve your existing soil by mixing in several inches of aged compost or other rich organic matter. For best results, feed regularly with a water-soluble plant food. Keep soil moist and water when the top inch of soil becomes dry. Once thyme is established, harvest as needed but avoid pruning more than one-third of the plant at a time. A warning with Thyme is that it can cause digestive system upset, headache, or dizziness in some people, especially with long periods of time.
